Planners Deny Marincello Density Plea

By RICHARD LYTTLE and ELLEN BRY

The Marin County Planning Commission, after hearing nearly six hours of testimony, voted 6-1 late yesterday against a zoning amendment to raise the density ceiling for the proposed "city" of Marincello. Chairman Niels Schultz Jr. dissented.

By subsequent action, the commission managed to keep the proposed development very much alive. And Thomas Frouge of the Frouge Corp., proponent of Marincello, declared at the end of the hearing,

"We are not going to give up."

Though the commission voted against lifting the 3.5 unit per acre density in the planned community zone, it also asked, on motion of Commissioner Margaret Azevedo, that the staff study possible revisions in the ordinance to take into account the "new city" concept.

This motion passed unanimously.

Another decision was that the county planning staff study the Marincello master plan itself and present recommendations at a hearing Aug. 2.

Planning Director B. D. Dobbs protested this request, saying it would be a waste of staff time to study the plan if Frouge Corp. is going to amend it to comply with the 3.5 density. The plan as now proposed calls for density of 5.9 units per acre.

In the end, after protests from former planning director Mary Summers and others, the commission asked Dobbs to study the plan anyway and make a report.

However, the direction was not clear in Dobbs' mind and he brought the matter up again just before midnight as the commission reached the end of its agenda.

Commissioners Hugh Dougherty, Felix M. Warburg and Azevedo agreed that the only thing the planning staff was asked to do was study possible amendments to the ordinance to include "the concept of a new city."

Commissioner Harry H. Heifetz said it was his understanding the staff was to study the plan as if it were in compliance with the 3.5 density.

"Don't do anything prior to July 19," Chairman Schultz directed.

That is the date of the commission's next meeting. By then commissioners should know if Frouge Corp. has appealed yesterday's decision to the board of supervisors.

In his comments yesterday, attorney E. Warren McGuire, main spokesman for Frouge, indicated an appeal would be made, but he refused to give a definite answer when questioned by the press at the close of the hearing.

Frouge told newsmen he did not think his proposal was given a fair hearing yesterday. He said opponents were unfair "in misinterpreting everything that we have indicated."

The hearing, which opened at 9 a.m. and concluded at 4:30 p.m. with little more than an hour's break for lunch, brought protests from a series of conservationists and backing from several representatives of organized labor.

Most of the speeches received applause. The biggest hand, however, went to Heifetz when he compared himself to an Indian trying to protect Marin from the "new breed of Indians."

"The basic question," Heifetz said, "is whether we have the right to fight for a way of life."

It was commissioner William F. Upton who moved to deny the amendment, saying that lifting the density could lead to complete urbanization of the county. Commissioner Dougherty seconded the motion, saying, "if we ultimately must surrender our maidenly virtue, let's do it on our own terms."

Schultz, in opposing the views of fellow commissioners, said, "I don't think we can continue to look back."

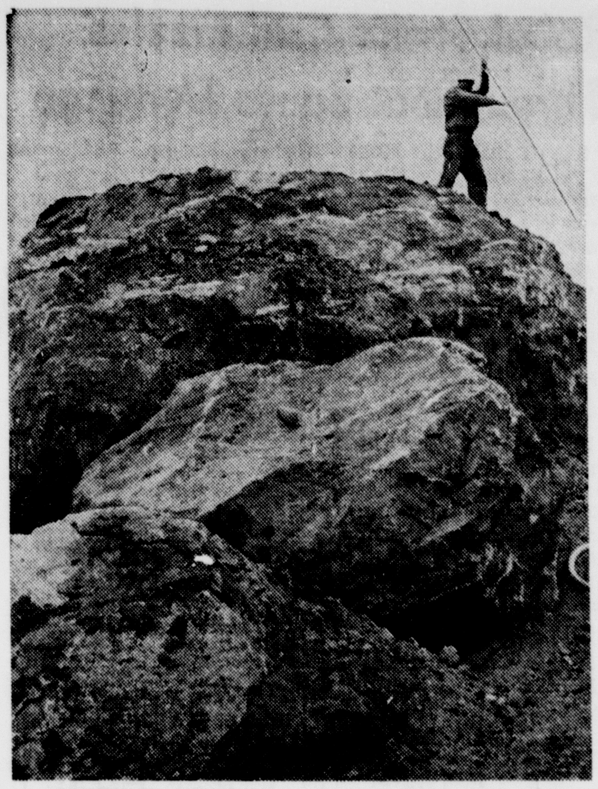

After the vote, the method of procedure was discussed at length, with McGuire insisting that hearings on the master plan should go ahead.

Mrs. Summers charged that Frouge was trying to get the county to do his planning for him.

Charles De Turk, chief of the State Division of Beaches and Parks, opposed the Marincello master plan in a letter to the board, saying the plan shows two accesses from the proposed city to the proposed Headlands state park. He also objected to the proposed sewer plan for Marincello with an offshore outfall.

Leonard A. Bjorklund, attorney for Warren Glass of Wolfback Ridge, protesting Marincello, charged that consideration of the plan after denial of the

THIS WILL BE A ROAD

For weeks, Brown-Ely Co. crews building the realigned four-lane Tiburon Boulevard have been moving earth off this huge rock which was uncovered in the right-of-way behind the Tiburon Baptist Church property. The rock, invisible under the dirt when work began, stuck up as shown in top picture this morning. Then, Roy Peterson of Novato and Earl Lashmett of Vallejo blasted it with 30 pounds of dynamite—with the result seen below. The rock totalled nearly 200 cubic yards, they reported. San Anselmo Record Tax Rate On Way

City Employee Raises Increase Rate Five Cents

A property tax rate of $2.29 per $100 assessed valuation, the highest in the city of San Anselmo's history, was set last night by the city council.

Fewer than five citizens were in the audience when the tax rate was agreed upon at a council budget session.

The council approved a 2½ per cent salary increase for all but five full-time employees not on probationary status.

The city's controller, juvenile officer, assistant librarian and librarian aides were granted 5 per cent salary hikes.

Flautt received a 2½ per cent increase in his monthly salary of $1,175.

He said the salary increases amounted to five cent on the tax rate.

The budget includes $67,800 for capital improvements. These include $17,500 for half the cost of a fire engine to be purchased during a two-year period; $20,000 for street construction which will be matched by state gasoline tax funds, and $11,000 for installation of traffic signals at the Sequoia Drive and Redhill Avenue intersection.

The council also set aside $2,800 to supplement any donation of funds or labor offered for the development of the park area adjacent to parking lot A in the downtown area.

Adoption of the budget is scheduled at today's council meeting at 8 p.m. in the city hall.

Brown Throws Budget Dare To Lawmakers

Says Burns, Unruh Must Balance It; July 1 Deadline

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Brown placed the responsibility squarely on feuding legislators today to settle their differences and balance his deficit budget before his July 1 deadline.

"It seems to me they had better take a responsibility in all this," he said, referring to Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Los Angeles, and Senate President Pro Tem Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno.

"They'd better get together without me and bring it to me."

The Democratic governor declined to place blame for one of the biggest fiscal crises of his seven years in office — but his news conference remarks were peppered with criticism of the legislature's Democratic leadership.

They came after he wrote legislators he won't "accept the invitation to fiscal irresponsibility offered" by Unruh and took under consideration a $99.18 million economy plan to balance the deficit in the $4.18 billion budget left him when the 1965 legislature adjourned early Saturday.

U. S. Warplanes Fly Closest Yet To China Border

SAIGON (UPI)—U. S. Air Force jets bombed a military barracks northwest of Hanoi and barely 80 miles from the border of Communist China today. The raid was the deepest penetration of the war.

A U.S. military spokesman said 41 jets hit the Communist barracks at Son La, 120 miles west northwest of Hanoi and 80 miles south of the town of Lao Cai on the border of Viet Nam and China. Other planes hit the Ban Nuoc Chiu ammunition depot 70 miles northwest of Hanoi.

In the ground war two U.S. Marines were killed today when their jeep hit a land mine eight and a half miles west of Da Nang. A spokesman said they were en route to re-establish communication with an artillery reconnaissance party which was having radio difficulties.

In Saigon a firing squad executed a terrorist who tried to bomb a barracks housing American Army officers. It was part of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's promised crackdown on terrorists, corruption and other practices weakening the war against the Viet Cong.

MEDALS FOR FLIERS

After thanking the 30 nations who are helping South Viet Nam in its fight against the Communists Ky presented gallantry medals to four Americans whose propeller-driven A1H Skyraider fighter-bombers shot down a Communist MIG jet over North Viet Nam Sunday.

BOMB DEPOTS

U.S. Air Force and Navy planes flew the nighttime missions before and after midnight, bombing supply depots, shipping, highways and anti-aircraft gun emplacements under the glare of parachute flares.

Speaking at a ceremony honoring the 30 nations assisting South Viet Nam in its fight against communism, Ky pledged that his government will take "drastic measures" to weed out corruption.

PLANNERS SET NEW RECORD FOR SIT-INS

The Marin County Planning Commission set a marathon meeting record yesterday.

Commissioners went into session at 9 a.m. They took a lunch break of a little over an hour, and recessed for two hours for supper.

County Hearing Set On 'Double' Taxes

Marin County supervisors today set public hearing for 8 p.m. July 12 on a far-reaching city-county services report aimed at making the property tax picture more equitable for city taxpayers.

The report, submitted by a committee consisting of Supervisors William A. Gnoss and Byron W. Leydecker and Mayors Robert D. Carrow of Novato and Michael Wornum of Mill Valley, outlines ways for cities and special districts to be excused from some of county fire tax, spels out methods of creating police districts in unincorporated areas, and calls for equity studies in county road-work.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen moved that additional information be prepared in the form of "rebuttal" evidence to show how cities get a benefit through sales tax and other revenues.

Leydecker challenged this, saying "two wrongs do not make a right." He said if there are inequities in both the property tax and sales tax pictures then perhaps both methods of taxation are wrong and the ultimate answer is an income tax.

The board agreed 4-0, with Supervisor William A. Gnoss absent, to hold the July 12 hearing on the report alone. Kettenhofen's motion for additional information was defeated 3-1.

U.S. Still Waiting On Algerian Status

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is expected to recognize the new Algerian government within a day or two, officials said today.

Plans to announce American diplomatic recognition today appeared to have been delayed pending clarification of reports of unrest outside the Algerian capital, Algiers.

State Narcotics Aide Challenged At Sausalito Marijuana Forum

By ROSS DAVIS

Like, man, a few of the marijuana users and their friends made the church scene last night.

They failed to take over the session, a forum on problems of narcotics and sponsored by Christ Church Episcopal at Campbell Hall, but their jeering, noisy tactics repeatedly disrupted the question-answer portion of the meeting.

Also they made a couple of points.

Jim J. Jensen, bearded, barefoot and chain-smoking, started the heckling. "How do you know the effects of marijuana?" he asked a main speaker, John Warner, field supervisor of California Narcotic Enforcement Bureau, San Francisco. "You ever used it?"

Warner replied he had not.

"So you're stating these things and I'm wondering what you have to go on," said Jensen, who resides around Gate 5, Marinship.

Synanon Shoots Down 'Pot' Defenders

By ALAN P. CUNNINGHAM

If Marin County teen-agers believe they can "play around" with marijuana without geeting hooked on stronger narcotics, they might talk with a few of the 81 residents of Synanon House in Marshall, all of whom are experts on the subject through bitter experience.

The youths would find little encouragement there.

"In my high school class," Synanon resident Donald Parker recalled today, "there were two of what you might call the 'in' crowds and both used marijuana. I was part of one group.

"I would say that most of these people are in prison now. A lot of them are doing 20 or 25 years in various jails around the country."

Howard Albert started his 18-year narcotics problem the same way, but in a different locale: aboard an aircraft carrier in World War II.

"I was in a 22-piece band on the carrier, and there were a couple of guys who had marijuana. One day they offered me some and I said, 'wonderful.'

"I fooled around with it for about three years, then went on to other things—amphetamines, 'goof balls' and even a little liquid cocaine."

Still another case history was volunteered by Ron Pacific, house manager of the Marshall facility.

"You start out going out with a bunch of guys drinking on Saturday nights, then you begin smoking marijuana. After awhile you go to pills and eventually to heroin," he said.

Pacific, who was addicted for three years before entering Synanon, estimates that more than half of those in the Marshall house started with marijuana.

"The drug itself is not a physically addicting drug. But when you are around that environment, there is always somebody close by who has something else," he said.

"If you are prone to smoke marijuana, you are prone to try other things."

Albert and Parker agreed.

"There was something wrong with me at the start for me to say 'wonderful' when they offered me marijuana," said Albert. "And marijuana lessens your resistance to other drugs.

Parker started smoking the weed at 15, and switched—first to pills, then to heroin—in a short time. He began a career of burglary to pay for his habit, and went to prison for two and one-half years when he was 18. He got out, but soon went back in—this time on an armed robbery conviction.

"I think if any kid uses marijuana, he will eventually be in an environment where he can get stronger things," he said.

"If these Marin County kids don't get some help, most of them will wind up the same way I did."

How, the Synanon residents were asked, did they feel about the theory that marijuana should be legalized, since it is technically considered non-addicting?

"That is crass stupidity," replied Albert.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Two Killers Of Seven Hanged

LANSING, Kan. (AP)—Two young men, who had boasted of killing seven persons, showed a complete reversal of attitude as they went in solemn repentance to the gallows and were hanged early today.

Latham

George Ronald York, 22, of Jacksonville, Fla., and James Douglas Latham, 23, of Mauriceville, Tex., were executed at the Kansas Prison.

As bitter teen-agers four years ago, they scoffed at society, termed life a "rat race," and said they looked forward to execution.

Facing the gallows today, York said:

"I've nothing to say except I'm glad to be going home to heaven, and I hope to meet you people up there.

"I know it won't do much good to say I'm sorry, but I know God has forgiven me and I hope you people can see fit to do the same."

York

Lathan said simply:

"I'm not mad at anybody."

At York's request a prison chaplain, the Rev. Edgar Missner read from the 23rd Psalm before the trap was sprung.

As high school drop-outs, they had joined the Army and quickly had disciplinary problems. They met in the stockade at Ft. Hood, Tex., broke out together May 24, 1961, and began a savage vendetta of robbery and killing through Florida, Tennessee, Illinois, Kansas and Colorado.

Mars Photos May Be Delayed

PASADENA (AP)—There's a chance the best of the 18 to 21 photographs the U.S. spacecraft Mariner 4 takes of Mars July 14 may not be released to the public for weeks or even months.

A spokesman for Jet Propulsion Laboratory said today that scientists have agreed to immediate release of only the first three photographs, and possibly some others.

The rest of the historic pictures, which could show whether there are canal-like structures on the planet believed most likely to harbor extraterrestrial beings, may be withheld for detailed study and analysis.

Marilyn's Estate Going To Taxes

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actress Marilyn Monroe apparently will be denied in death her expressed wish that her long ailing mother be cared for under a $100,000 trust fund because of taxes that are consuming her estate, a close associate said yesterday.

Marilyn

When Miss Monroe died, a probable suicide, in August, 1962, she left an estate estimated at $1 million. It was filed for probate in New York City. The will set up a $100,000 trust fund, of which $5,000 was to be expended annually on care of her mother, Mrs. Gladys Baker, a sanitarium patient.

Mrs. Inez C. Melson, who served several years as Miss Monroe's business manager before the star moved to New York, is conservator of Mrs. Baker's estate. She said the trust fund cannot be established until taxes are worked out, and virtually all her income is going for that purpose.

Bundy Says U.S. Must Keep To Difficult Viet Course

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential adviser McGeorge Bundy confronted critics of the Johnson administration's Viet Nam policies last night and said "the policy which the United States is now following is the best policy in a difficult and dangerous situation."

That policy, Bundy asserted, "is that we should stay there, that we should do our part, as may become necessary, do only what is necessary. . .and seek constantly, as we have for months and months, to find a way to get this dangerous and difficult business to the conference room."

GET OUT

Speaking for the critics, Dr. Hans Morgenthau, professor of political science at the University of Chicago, said, "I think our aim must be to get out of Viet Nam but to get out of it with honor." He rejected the idea of an immediate withdrawal and said the United States should seek face-saving devices to rectify the situation, such as the French achieved in their withdrawal from Algeria.

A brisk clash between Bundy and Morgenthau highlighted the hour- long special CBS television and radio program, although there were similarities in the practical steps urged by the two men. Altogether, six foreign policy experts took part in the discussion.

"Within the framework of the choice available to us," Bundy said, "we can move without restraint against those who have engaged in this aggression from the north.

'WITHOUT REGARDS'

"We can move toward withdrawal without regard to our obligations to those in South Viet Nam or the political consequences in other countries.

"We can stay roughly where we are in essentially the passive role or we can carefully and with a choice of specific ways and means move to sustain our part."

"It is not for me on this occasion, to discuss specifically what steps may come in the future," added Bundy.

Morgenthau led off with an assertion that "I am opposed to our present policy in Viet Nam on moral, military, political and general intellectual grounds."

Discussing alternatives later, however, he said that "by far the most acceptable from my point of view" is a recent suggestion by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., to "try to hold a few strong points on the coast of Viet Nam, proving to the Viet Cong that they cannot win a military victory, and on that basis try to negotiate with them in the fall."

Military Keeps Firm Control In Algeria

ALGIERS (AP)—The military regime of Col. Houari Boumedienne held Algiers in a firm grip today after an overwhelming show of force crushed demonstrations by supporters of deposed President Ahmed Ben Bella.

Thousands of troops and riot police converged on the capital yesterday and stopped a few hundred youth who marched through the streets. It was the second demonstration in 24 hours.

The demonstrators were dispersed by fire trucks that drenched them with jets of cold water.

While there were no reported injuries in Algiers, unconfirmed reports said at least 10 persons were killed in a bloody clash between troops and Ben Bella supporters in the east Algerian port city of Bone.

Demonstrations for Ben Bella also were reported in Philippeville, Constantine and Oran.

Troops with rifles and submachine guns patrolled the Algiers streets and guarded key buildings. This morning all seemed normal and quiet.

Yet popular discontent with Ben Bella's removal appeared widespread in the city, and new outbreaks of rioting seemed likely.

Diplomats saw the army takeover as a pan-Arab and anti-Communist move. In general, the new regime was regarded as neutralist on the Egyptian pattern.

Vacuum Kills Woman

Japan-Korea Pact Touches Off Rioting

TOKYO (UPI) — Japanese and South Korean officials today signed a historic treaty aimed at establishing normal relations between the two countries. The action touched off anti - government riots in Seoul, the Korean capital.

The treaty, and four agreements settling most outstanding disputes, culminated 14 years of complicated negotiations and put a formal end to 50 years of enmity between South Korea and its one-time colonial ruler.

The United States, allied to both countries, has been pressing hard behind the scenes to encourage the accords.

Only parliamentary ratification is now required to open up a new era of diplomatic and economic cooperation between Japan and South Korea.

But ratification was by no means certain.

Many South Koreans are still bitter as a result of the years of colonial rule that came to an end with Japan's defeat in World War II.

Foreign Ministers Tong Won Lee of South Korea and Etsusaburo Shiina of Japan signed the historic documents at 4 a.m. EDT at Prime Minister Eisaku Sato's official residence here.

A total of 3,000 policemen guarded both the home and the foreign office to prevent possible leftist demonstrations from disrupting the 50 - minute ceremonies.

Rebel Strike Call Fizzles Throughout Santo Domingo

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — A three - day "general strike" called by unions supporting Col. Francisco Caamano Deno's rebels appeared today to be a total washout.

On the first day of the strike yesterday, shops and public transportation operated normally even in the square mile of Santo Domingo where the rebels hold sway.

The rest of the country, which is effectively controlled by Maj. Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera's five-man junta regime, took virtually no notice of the strike.

DEVIL'S HOLE–DIVERS' GRAVE?

A fence and warning sign mark Devil's Hole in Death Valley, where teams of scuba divers today continued seeking the bodies of two Las Vegas, Nev., youths missing since midnight Sunday. David Rose, 20, and Paul Giancontieri, 19, and two companions ignored park regulations to sneak into the uncharted fissure filled with warm water. Officials say there is little hope of finding their bodies.

MOUNTAIN NURSE WINS ACQUITTAL

But Death Valley Hamlet Still Firm On Quitting California For Nevada

TECOPA, Calif. (UPI)—Nurse Patricia Gardelius was back at her job of running a doctor's office today, but hundreds of residents of this Death Valley town have not dropped plans to secede from California.

Mrs. Gardelius, 39, was found innocent of charges of practicing medicine without a license yesterday by a seven-woman, five - man jury in a trial before Justice of the Peace Theodore J. Gardner in Independence, Calif.

More than 100 Tecopa residents jammed the court room in support of the practical nurse. Many carried placards proclaiming "We Need Pat" and "I'm from Tecopa."

Many residents have started a movement to demand to secede from the state because of the absense of state services.

Mrs. Gardelius, they claim, is the only person available to care for them except a single doctor who must fly 180 miles for weekly visits.

She went on trial after being cited for practicing medicine without a license by a state investigator.

Ira D. Sims, an investigator for the state Department of Vocational and Professional Standards, was the chief prosecution witness.

He testified he received a complaint in March and went to the community, which is about 250 miles northeast of Los Angeles. He said he posed as a tourist with an earache. Sims said Mrs. Gardelius gave him a mild narcotic and treated him, after which he cited her.

The defense contended the state code said emergency treatment of this nature was permitted. Further, the defendant's attorney claimed the manner in which the charge was filed involved entrapment of the defendant.

The jury deliberated about two hours. When the verdict was read, the crowd in the courtroom cheered, whistled and stomped their feet.

Mrs. Gardelius had held that she merely ran the office in Tecopa for Dr. Walter Wilson, whose headquarters were in Lone Pine, 180 miles away, and consulted frequently with her superior. She said she never represented herself as a licensed doctor or a registered nurse.

LBJ Signs Tax Cut Law As Boon For U.S. Shoppers

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you buy a piece of jewelry today, a lipstick, a handbag, a suitcase or even a knapsack, you won't have to pay a federal retail tax on it — for the first time in years.

Those so-called nuisance taxes were among the federal excise taxes wiped out at midnight after President Johnson signed the $4.7-billion tax cut bill in a White House ceremony yesterday.

Other excise taxes are being reduced in stages. The first-stage cuts on two big ones — cars and air conditioners— are retroactive to last May 15, so that if you bought one of these anytime since then you'll get a refund. On cars the refund should average about $70.

The President said "this excise tax bill will make its maximum contribution to our economic health only if businesses pass along to consumers the full amount of the reduction in the tax. And today I urge every manufacturer and every retailer in this country to do just that."

Price cuts to follow the tax cuts are not mandatory, but the makers and sellers of the goods are generally expected to pass on the savings to consumers.

Johnson said: "When there is again opportunity for tax revision, we hope, in particular, to provide further tax relief to those in our nation who need it most — those taxpayers who now live in the shadow of poverty."

The President didn't explain what he had in mind for this sometime- in-the-future tax cut possibility.

The first stage of the reductions will "lift one and three-quarters billion dollars of onerous taxes from the American economy," the President said.

The second step next January will cut excises by an equal amount. Some of the cuts, such as on autos and telephone calls, will be made in stages up until Jan. 1, 1969.

FLOOD TAKES HEAVY TOLL ON TIPPLING

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A quarter of a million dollars worth of liquor is going to be destroyed because of last week's floods.

The liquor, including imported whiskies, scotches, gins, wines and champagnes, is in flooded basement rooms of the liquor division of McKesson & Robbins, Inc.

The spirits must be destroyed under a court ruling of the early 1950s which states any bottled liquor covered by flood water is no longer fit for human consumption.

Jewelry Finders Face Theft Trial

CUNEO, Italy (AP) — Three Italian youths must stand trial on charges of stealing some $20,000 worth of jewelry from the wreckage of King Saud's private jet plane after it crashed in the Alps in March 1963.

An investigating magistrate decided yesterday that the youths had no right to act as if the jewels from the Saudi Arabian monarch's plane were an unclaimed find.

The youths said they thought ownership had been abandoned once the zone was declared open after months of fruitless search.

Wall Of Water On March In Kansas; Thousands Flee

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The torrent of water, ranging from one to five miles wide, moved ponderously into Larned early today after more than 1,000 persons moved from their homes in the southeast part of the city.

At Great Bend, 35 miles downstream, another 3,000 persons prepared to move before the crest, traveling about 2 miles per hour, hits there later today.

The flood was spawned by last week's torrential rains in Colorado where flood damage may total $125 million.

Adding to the havoc were heavy rains in scattered parts of the Kansas flood region last night. Jetmore, north of Dodge City, got 3.75 inches of rain in two hours, 2 inches or more fell in about one hour at Larned and Great Bend, and 1.65 fell at Rozel, west of Larned.

At Garden City, where 300 families were left homeless, residents were wading in the remnants of the worst flood in the city's history late yesterday, when a dust storm blew in on southerly winds of 40 knots, cutting visibility to less than a block.

The water at Larned was expected to exceed the high marks of 1942 and 1951 by 4 to 5 feet, which would place all the business district under water. Sand bags were piled around stores 10 blocks back from the river on the north side.

At Great Bend, store fronts were sandbagged as far as 15 blocks from the normally calm river channel.

Gov. John A. Love of Colorado called the flood "the greatest natural disaster" in that state's history and said he was considering calling a special flood relief session of the Colorado Legislature.

Kenneth M. Giakovmis of 10 Gary Way was turning left onto Gary Way from Gregory Drive when young Hadley, going south on Gary Way, hit the motorcycle, the California Highway Patrol reported.

TV Licensing Change Studied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Communications Commission has asked for comment from the industry on its new policy limiting the number of television stations under single ownership.

The FCC policy would limit multiple ownership to three stations in the largest 50 television markets. It would not affect station holdings of present station owners, but would apply to applications for new stations and for transfers of ownership.

Present policy permits a broadcaster to operate seven FM stations and seven television stations, no more than five of which are in the VMF band.

Belvedere Meeting

The Belvedere City Council will hold a special meeting at 8 p.m. today at the city office, 83 Beach Road, to decide whether to exclude city property from the county fire protection tax.

Fire Tax Cutback May Add A Dime To County's Rate

If all fire districts and cities offering fire protection in the county are excluded from the structural fire protection costs of the county fire tax, it will mean a 10-cent increase in taxes in unincorporated areas, Marin County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell said today.

Mitchell said today the 1-cent drop estimated for cities and districts is correct, but the 6-cent increase was in error.

Panama Embassy Riot Threatened

PANAMA (AP)—Foreign Ministry sources said anonymous callers telephoned two threats yesterday to burn down the U.S. Embassy.

The threats coincided with stories in the local press of the return of James Jenkins, 18-year-old American who took part in the flag - raising demonstration that triggered bloody rioting in Panama in January 1964.

Jenkins' parents sent him to relatives in Ohio to finish his schooling after the flag incident. He reportedly has returned to spend the summer with his parents.

Auto Prices Read Into The Record

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, said today some auto dealers might cancel out consumer tax savings on new cars by raising prices for power brakes, air conditioning or other accessories.

Vanik inserted into the Congressional Record a 27-page list showing retail prices for "extras" on most cars sold by General Motors, Ford and Chrysler before the tax reduction.

His purpose was to keep auto purchasers from paying higher prices that dealers might impose because the excise tax on new cars has been cut from 10 per cent to 7 per cent, retroactive to May 15.

Although President Johnson wants consumers to get the tax saving, manufacturers and retailers are under no obligation to pass it on. They could keep the tax cut by "hiding" it in higher prices.

Vanik tried to put auto shoppers in a stronger bargaining position last week by publishing in the Congressional Record a "new car purchaser's guide" showing prices paid by dealers for cars — minus accessories.

Today's second installment listed the prices of accessories before the tax reduction. Vanik advised new car buyers to carry it into the showroom as a guide.

Reporter Witnesses Red Holiday In Peking

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—May Day in Peking began with mobs of workers carrying banners and marching to the "internationale", says a reporter for the San Francisco Examiner.

The reporter, Lisa Hobbs, an Australian citizen on the permanent staff of the Examiner, recently toured parts of Communist China with a group of Australian tourists. She has returned to San Francisco and her series of articles, copyrighted by the Examiner, has been distributed by the Hearst Headline Service.

"By 10 o'clock the city parks were crowded with gaily dressed beribboned children, their youthful parents neatly dressed and groomed," she wrote under a Peking dateline.

"We do not, as a peace-loving nation, display arms," the group's interpreter, Li Tieh-fei reportedly explained.

Mrs. Hobbs noted that the crowds maintained discipline without barriers to hold them back or police cars or mounted police. Those in the front row maintained a straight line without effort, despite the 700,000 persons behind them, she said.

"Just as striking was the lack of litter. I asked Li Tieh-fei how such cleanliness had been achieved."

'Affluent Society' Woes, Blessings Are Predicted

Within the next hundred years, man may work only three years of his life, retiring at age 27 to "fish, go to school, read, study music or just speculate about the problems of life."

This vision of an affluent, automated society, devoted to "artistic and creative activities," was postulated today at Dominican College's "The Emerging Society" symposium by an industrial economics professor.

"Work as a source of income may be outmoded," George C. Halverson of San Jose State College told 260 educators. "Just by being a human being, you will receive a guaranteed annual income. If the society can afford to, why not?"

Machines will do the work, bringing to fruition the trend toward an "abundant society" —maximum productivity with minimum work—begun in the industrial revolution. But, said Halverson, the machine is dependent upon man. "It is still a man-machine relationship."

Also speaking on the political implications of cybernation was William H. Poytress, emeritus professor of economics at San Jose State College, who agreed that the unemployment problem created by the "very rapid speed" of developing cybernetics is serious.

However, he said, no one knows how much unemployment is due to automation. Economists and government officials are working hard to solve or forestall sudden shocks of displacement, he pointed out.

"Cybernation is the scapegoat today," he said. "Find any economic ills and they're blamed on automation."

Educators attending yesterday's session of the symposium heard a plea from Rev. Allan McCoy, pastor of St. Mary's Church in Stockton and vice president of the National Council of the Spanish Speaking, for a new United States "good neighbor" policy toward its Latin American immigrants — greater respect, acceptance and appreciation of their cultural differences.

"We have much to learn from the Latin American immigrant," the Franciscan priest said, "and in many ways, their moral values, are much more Christian than ours." For example, he said, the greatest offense for a married man, in the eyes of Catholic Americans, would be adultery; in Latin America, it would be meanness, lack of kindness to neighbors."

Potentially Risky Machines Stolen

Two electric spot nailers, which are potentially dangerous in the hands of someone who does not know how to use them, were reported stolen from Dickman Construction Co. construction shack on Paradise Drive yesterday.

Also missing were two eight-inch electric saws, valued at $100 each.

The Society of Czechoslovak Hunters has about 125,000 members, including 2,500 women, the Czechoslovak news agency C.T.K. said.

PLAN

density amendment was like considering the penalty for an accused person after the accused had been acquitted.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney was called to the session to advise the commission that it could continue the second hearing on the master plan from the original July 19 date to Aug. 2.

The morning presentation by Frouge representatives, brought a parade of rebuttals and criticisms by 19 Marin residents and groups.

Mrs. Summers, president of the Marin Conservation League, was master of ceremonies for the opposition. She told plannig commissioners that they would have to make "one . . . significant decision: Shall Marin County remove the ceiling on its ultimate population!"

Peter Whitney of Inverness, executive director of the Scenic Roads Assn., echoed the question when he said that Stinson Beach and ranches which now front the West Marin coastline could become high density developments with high-rise apartments if the density rule were relaxed.

Chairman Schultz repeatedly asked the partisan audience to hold back its applause for Frouge critics. The request was in vain as applause boomed again and again through the Civic Center chambers as one Marinite after another spoke against the development.

Mrs. John R. Barnard of Mill Valley presented petitions which she said contained signatures of 2,500 Marin residents opposed to the high-rise and density aspects of the development.

The Golden Gate is a national landmark," Mrs. Barnard said. When San Francisco's density jumps the Golden Gate, that is urban sprawl."

But between protestants to Marincello plans came a representative of the Marin Visitors Bureau who noted in a statement from James L. Bigelow, first vice president of the bureau, that the organization favored Marincello for the convention and visitors facilities which would be constructed for outists.

Councilman Eleanor O'Hara Chapin of Sausalito objected to the "euphoric" wording of Frouge backers for the "Greenbelt" which she said would result in higher density than found in San Francisco.

She corrected some figures Frouge representatives used in comparing development density to that in Sausalito.

She read a resolution from the Sausalito council opposing Marincello.

Mayor Michael Wornum of Mill Valley called the development "a cruel hoax — wishful thinking at a time when we are all suffering from taxes."

Jack Brandon, chairman of the Terra Linda Parks and Recreation District, said the density change would be the "death knell to orderly . . . planned . . . developed Marin County."

Rancher George Wheelwright told the commission that "open land easily destroyed cannot be replaced."

Harold Summers, formerly with the State Division of Highways, told commissioners that though many Marincello residents would work within the development, the number of commuters to San Francisco jobs could be expected to fill two to two and one-half lanes of highway 101 during peak commuting hours.

Harlan Soeten of Mill Valley said Frouge claims were "nonsense" and that the development would not "solve our problem of ever-expanding tract developments."

The San Francisco Bay Chapter of the Sierra Club, Homestead Valley Improvement Club, Inverness Improvement Assn., Wolfback Ridge Assn., and Muir Woods Park Improvement Assn. came out against the density change or high-rise buildings.

Keefe will be sentenced July 20.

6 a.m., Viet Cong terrorist Tran Van Dang was executed in Saigon's central market place. He shouted "Long Live Ho Chi Minh" and "Down with the Americans" as a volley of bullets ripped into his body.

The blindfolded Dang was tied to a post in the center of a U-shaped pile of sandbags. He submitted quietly while soldiers tied his hands behind his back but tried unsuccessfully to prevent a black cloth from being bound across his eyes.

Dang was caught red-handed by police last March 20 while carrying explosives in the luggage compartment of his motor scooter. Vietnamese authorities said Dang had rigged the charge to explode five minutes after it was planted at the U. S. officer's billet on Vo Tanh Street in Saigon. He was caught just in time to prevent the blast.

36-Hour Week For Carpenters

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Union carpenters in four Bay Area counties, who work 40 hours in a 5-day week, will get a 36-hour week, working 8 hours on 4 days and 4 hours on the fifth.

That was one provision in a new 3-year contract initialed yesterday by the Carpenters Union and eight employer groups headed by Associated General Contractors.

The union has 16,000 carpenters in San Francisco, Alameda, Marin and San Mateo counties. They are expected to ratify the contract this week.

The new budget if approved will surpass the present budget by $175,260. Mrs. Helen Jack, district secretary, said a five per cent salary increase for non-union workers was the reason for the increase.

projects all over the state, Brown said "it is not a question of whether I can live with it or whether the speaker can live with it. It is a question of whether the State of California can live with it.

Unruh maintained throughout the session that a tax increase had to be accompanied by massive local property tax reductions — a position the Senate refused to accept.

Brown said he wouldn't blame anyone for the deadlock, but said that Unruh presented his demands to the Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee and told them to "take it or leave it, and they left it."

Under no circumstances, he reiterated, would he sign an unbalanced budget on July 1, the day the measure becomes law.

But he was pessimistic of the Senate and Assembly reaching agreement and returning for a special session before July 1 to pass new taxes.

Burns has taken the position that the governor should do the budget shopping. He said at week's end, "There's no need for a special session. Let the governor cut the $93 million from the budget and give the taxpayers a break finally."

Meanwhile, he planned an immediate meeting with Senate leaders and said he wanted to talk to the Assembly leadership.

Legislators began receiving in the mail a long list of cuts proposed by the Finance Department, affecting almost every section of California and scores of state services.

Unless legislative leaders agree to resolve the impasse over new taxes and return in a special session to make up the deficit by July 1, Brown promised to slash the budget.

Castner Rips Bagley Over Bridge Charges

L. E. Castner of Boyes Springs, president of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, has requested an apology from Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R. San Rafael, for his charges against bridge district officials.

Bagley on June 8 declared the officials "tried to pull a fast one over me" in getting him to amend a bill to include broad expansion of the district's powers.

He said the way the amendment was presented by bridge general manager James Adam was "just plain, pure Mickey Mouse."

Castner, in a letter to Bagley, said the assemblyman's statements were not based on the facts as told to Castner.

Bagley had said he learned after agreeing to include "a few little amendments" in his bill that they were all of the highly controversial Senate Bill 905. That bill had been opposed on grounds it would give the bridge district too much power.

Castner, in his letter, said Bagley had agreed in a telephone conversation June 4 with bridge director E. J. Guidotti of Sonoma County to amend the Senate bill into Assembly Bill 3363. On the same day Bagley was briefed on phases of the Senate bill, Castner said.

"It is understandable that you were not entirely familiar with all the language in Senate Bill 905, but I am convinced that you had full knowledge of the contents before you presented the amendments to the Assembly Committee. If you were at all in disagreement with the amendments, you had ample opportunity not to present them," Castner wrote.

Tam Bond Issue Problem Probed

Trustees of Tamalpais High School District last night studied projected enrollment, bonding capacity, construction costs, inflation, student attendance areas, trying to decide what to include in a school construction bond issue.

They came to no decision.

The question is complicated by restrictions in district bonding capacity which will not allow construction of projects at Redwood High School, San Geronimo and Tiburon at the same time.

Trustees are talking of a bond issue to finance $13,279,644 in construction to complete Redwood High School, build a San Geronimo High School and a Tiburon High School. But the figures may rise if construction is delayed, because of a built-in four per cent inflation in construction costs, Supt. Chester G. Carlisle told trustees.

The capacity of Sir Francis Drake High School next fall will be exceeded, with 1,708 students expected in a school constructed for 1,475.

At Tamalpais High School, with a capacity of 1,800, and at Redwood, with a top of 2,100, student enrollment will be within 66 to 76 students of the capacity figures, Carlisle said.

Trustees considered various staging of construction, but came to no conclusion on the five possibilities noted by Carlisle.

J. R. B. Ellis of Kentfield suggested Tiburon High School, which came last on the priority list in most proposals, should be included for early construction to gain southern Marin votes to pass the bonds.

The Tamalpais High School Trustees Also:

1. Accepted a gift of recordings of national anthems of the world from Redwood High School teacher Robert Mautner.
2. Approved an insurance plan, optional for students, costing $4.75 per student per year and giving up to $10,000 coverage for accidents connected with school activities.
3. Approved a contract with the office of the county superintendent of schools to supply films and slides at a cost of $1.50 per student.
4. Accepted a low bid from Ferdinand Terheyden Brothers, Inc. of San Francisco at $6,490 for painting at Sir Francis Drake and Tamalpais' high schools. Two other firms submitted bids of more than $9,000 each.

New Library Contract Set In Mill Valley

Low bid of $317,408 by Ira W. Coburn Inc. of San Rafael was accepted last night by the Mill Valley City Council for construction of the city's new public library on Throckmorton Avenue near Elma Street.

The bid includes the work in the downstairs section of the building but not the library carpeting, said Mrs. John P. Farnham, library board president.

Architect's estimate was $396,000. Other bids were: Pacific Coast Builders, San Rafael, $330,500; J. R. Filippo, San Rafael, $318,943; P. Sartorio, Colma, $348,000, and Christensen and Foster, Santa Rosa, $348,000.

The council voted to approve the work contract and passed a resolution authorizing issuance of $325,000 in library bonds, to be redeemed by amounts of $10,000 per year for the first five years, $15,000 for the second five years and $20,000 for the remaining 10 years.

Bruce Seeks Decision On Attorneys

Marin County Administrator Alan Bruce will urge that supervisors make a decision on or before June 28 on the private practice issue for attorneys in county employ.

The board of supervisors last week put off deciding if the policy allowing private practice should continue.

Bruce said today an early decision is necessary for two reasons. The first is that two attorneys must be recruited to fill vacancies in the county counsel's office and it will be hard to find recruits unless the policy is firmed up.

Secondly, Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell has said he will stop salary checks, effective July 1, to any county attorneys who are using county office staff or materials to aid them in private practice.

Four Tires Taken

Four tires, valued at $180, were stolen from two new cars parked in rear of the Doug Dicker Car Lot at Francisco and Bellam Boulevards, San Rafael, Friday night, San Rafael police said.

Joint Plans Session Set On Bothin Marina Proposal

The Marin County Planning Commission will meet in joint session with the Mill Valley Planning Commission July 6 to review the master plan of the proposed Bothin property marina development on Richardson Bay.

The plan calls for apartments, a motel, convention center, theater, restaurants and a small shopping center. It would require an amendment to the Richardson Bay Master Plan, and also must be approved by the new Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

The joint session will be held at 8 p.m. July 6 at Civic Center.

County Planning Director B. D. Dobbs said the land is still in unincorporated area, although an annexation now under litigation would put it in Mill Valley. Thus the city planning commission has been asked to sit in on the hearing.

State Aide Is Challenged On Smoking Marijuana

"My knowledge is based on 25 years of experience," replied Warner, who added that he has questioned hundreds of users in his work with the bureau.

A little later, Frank Truelove, 17, of 30 Summit Avenue, Mill Valley, got the floor. One of the 10 juveniles arrested in recent roundups of suspected users or pushers, Truelove declared:

"They'll tell you that if you smoke marijuana, you'll see green monsters, and little green things and vomit and all, and this is wrong.

"Actually, if you don't take too much or too little, it can be good."

He said when and if teenagers use marijuana and learn there are no "green monster" affects, they'll be unable to believe warnings by adults about other things.

Apparent ring-leader Gregory Landers, who admitted a police record but didn't mention marijuana use, often interrupted speakers, gaining attention by snapping his fingers. During one rambling discourse by Landers, also of Gate 5, Mayor Jan Paul Dyk as meeting chairman asked if Landers were asking a question or making a speech.

"It's a question," replied Landers, "but a very involved one."

Susan Kerrigan, 22, Sausalito woman indicted by the Marin County Grand Jury for illegal possession of marijuana and carrying a concealed weapon, aked Police Chief Kenneth H. Huck if recent terms of "undesirables" and "human trash" were meant for all suspects.

Chief Huck replied that if the shoe fits, it should be worn. Van Dyk added that his own use of the words "human trash" included all those whose specific purpose for coming to Sausalito was to "peddle their wares (marijuana)."

Panel discussion was first opened by Warner, who warned of the spread in use of narcotics by pointing out that there were 1,930 narcotic arrests of juveniles in California in 1964, an increase of 35.2 per cent over 1963.

Arrests of juveniles on marijuana counts alone in 1964 more than doubled those in 1963, he said.

Warner decried the fallacy of teen-agers thinking no harm comes from marijuana use. Frequent use can cause definite brain damage, he said. Too, the user is likely to graduate to more deadly narcotics.

The supervisor also cited that marijuana's distortion of perspective can make driving an automobile a very real danger.

Chief Huck said: "It has become further evident that youth involved have had a naive hero worship of the pushers. They openly and flagrantly violate laws against using marijuana because they didn't feel the laws were right.

"The attitude of 'try anything once' is certainly also a pitfall."

Final speaker, Donald E. Midyett, chief criminal investigator for the district attorney's office, explained the processes of law in marijuana violations. First, he said, there is investigation and submitting of reports. Arrest follows, then arraignment in Municipal Court and setting of preliminary hearing.

If sufficient evidence is produced, the case goes to Superior Court for trial. Midyett added that the Municipal Court procedure is sometimes by-passed through grand jury indictments, as was the case of the recent group of suspects.

In closing the meeting, Rev. John Thornton, rector of the church, commented; "It is evident that is a great deal of alienation in this community. There is support from one element and antagonism from another.

"It is a problem which needs cooperation and understanding. Do you think this is possible?"

Chief Huck replied, "I think it would be We hope it would be."

Motorcyclist's Condition Critical

Donald C. Krough, 19, of 131 Oak Manor Drive, Fairfax, was in critical condition at Marin General Hospital today with injuries suffered in a motorcycle accident Sunday.

He was under treatment in the hospital's intensive care unit for head injuries and a fractured left arm.

Krough's motorcycle went off Shoreline Highway when he failed to make a curve in the road just north of Stinson Beach. The motorcycle hit a concrete culvert abutment and crashed into a foot of water in a ditch, highway patrolmen reported.

Revolutionizes Denture Wearing

The nearest thing to having your own teeth is possible by an artificial membrane invented by chemists. This membrane connects dentures to gums and mouth surfaces just as living tissue firmly binds natural teeth. Now many can eat, speak and laugh with little worry of dentures dropping.

FIXODENT elastic membrane absorbs the shock of biting and chewing—protects gums from bruising. You bite harder—eat faster, without pain. You can enjoy hard-to-chew foods like steak, apples, corn-on-cob.

Mill Valley Won't Delay Annexation Of Tam High Area

School Trustees Critical But Go Along With Action

Mill Valley City Council last night introduced an ordinance to annex the 127-acre Tamalpais High School tidelands area, despite urging from attorneys for a continuance of the public hearing.

At another meeting in Larkspur, Tamalpais High School District trustees by 3-1 vote reaffirmed their approval of the annexation, but made quite clear they objected to "being used as an excuse to bring in other areas." Trustee Edmund J. Thomas was opposed, and W. B. Lewis was absent.

The trustees indicated they disapproved of Mill Valley's method of annexation, and held out a chance of court action to residents of the area who dissent.

The council's 4-0 action on annexation (Mayor Michael Wornum was absent) was the second annexation procedure for the area. It was taken to avoid any legal slip-up which may have occurred in the first.

Before voting to introduce the ordinance, councilmen passed a resolution declaring no majority protest made.

The Tamalpais High grounds carry more than 50 per cent of the assessed valuation, so the city can annex property of opposing residents in the annexation area despite their protest. The annexation boundaries were drawn by Mill Valley. The area includes the high school, the Alto strip and a portion of the tidelands.

S. J. Hugh Allen, attorney for George Leo Zaro and Alcan Marin Ltd. urged that the hearing be adjourned to determine whether the Tamalpais trustees and the state tidelands commission, meeting in July, might wish to change their views and protest.

Attorney Harold B. Lerner, representing five Alto strip property owners north of Sabella's restaurant, said he would prefer to have letters in writing from his protestants.

City Mgr. Bert Balmer urged the council to close the hearing, saying occupation of the new Alcan-Marin apartments in Shelter Cove could change the annexation from an uninhabited to an inhabited one.

He also said he was informed by the superintendent of the school district that he saw no reason for the board to change its mind. Likewise, the secretary of the state tidelands commission informed Balmer he saw no problem in the annexation, the city manager said.

The council also introduced an ordinance to annex the 137-acre Alto Bowl in a separate action, and adopted an ordinance annexing the 206-acre North Ridge area.

At the Tamalpais board meeting trustee Thomas voted against the annexation because of the method.

"We're being used. We don't like it. We object to it. But still we want to be annexed," Thomas said.

He asked that the feeling of trustees about the annexation method be made part of the record of the meeting so that it might be used in court action by residents of the area who oppose annexation.

The board agreed, however, with Trustee Gloria Melbostad when she said "the fact remains that we would be better off annexed to Mill Valley."

The annexation would leave in the county area of C's drive-in, 510 Miller Avenue, where Tam students congregate, school officials said after the meeting.

Supervisors Like Low-Rent Housing Plan

Marin County supervisors today endorsed the Marin County Housing Authority's program to develop 200 low-rent housing units for the elderly with federal assistance.

Donald O. Stutsman, executive director of the authority, told supervisors that the first application for federal funds will be a request for $35,000 to cover architectural and planning costs.

Stutsman said a site for the first 50 units has not yet been selected, but they probably will be in Santa Venetia.

George Goheen Sr. a member of the housing authority, said 20 parcels throughout the county have been examined and there "are no bargains."

Electric Tools, Office Machines Reported Stolen

Loss of an electric saw and two sanding machines in a tool shed burglary of Associated Contractors of Palo Alto on a construction site near Tiburon was reported today by sheriff's officers.

Deputies said entry was by breaking a lock.

Gail D. Melbin, 355 Las Colindas Road, Terra Linda, told officers someone entered her home by prying a kitchen door yesterday and made off with three small banks containing a total of $20.

Burglary of the Forest Knolls summer home of Rosa Luisa Luchetti of San Francisco was also reported today. Deputies said the unoccupied house on Arroya Road was entered via a front door. Missing are two chairs, dishes, and a sewing machine.

John B. Jones of 40 Twain Harte Lane, San Rafael, told police Saturday his 1964 Honda motorcycle had been stolen from the parking lot at San Rafael High School between 5:30 and 8:30 p.m. Thursday.

Junior College Board Session Is Cancelled

Thursday's meeting of the Marin Junior College District has been canceled because of a lack of a quorum, according to Herbert Blanchett, administrative assistant to College President Stephen E. Epler.

The board's next meeting will be at 8 p.m. July 1 in Room 24, Harlan Hall, on the Kentfield campus.

Mill Valley Trustees Vote To Bus Students

Bussing of Mill Valley pupils on a voluntary basis to Sausalito in September was given an added "push" last night.

Mill Valley School District trustees voted unanimously to accept a joint Sausalito-Mill Valley faculty report and asked for the plan's implementation on the basis of parents of 205 pupils having expressed interest.

Next step is to collect actual signups. These must be sent by form or by telephoning to the district office at 26 Miller Avenue by Monday noon. The deadline was arrived at since the board must decide that evening on the number of portable classrooms to be leased in September.

Signups are for pupils who will go into fifth through eighth grades next fall.

The board also agreed to ask parents of children in kindergarten through fourth grade for "their expression of sending their children (to Sausalito) on an individual basis through individual agreement."

About 150 persons attended the meeting at Edna Maguire School, with many speaking pro and con. Acknowledgement was mode of 27 post cards addressed to the school board and administrators which, in essence, poked fun at the bussing proposal. They were not read as they were anonymous.

One card said: "I request my child be bussed to the moon. My child does not get the opportunity to play with green children in the Mill Valley schools. A Mill Valley Parent." Others asked that their children be bussed to Chinatown and to Disneyland.

The committee report, which spells out program, transportation and inter-district coordination between Mill Valley and Sausalito school districts which be believe will inevitably come together under the likely prospect of unionization or unification."

Following the meeting the board went into closed session reportedly to discuss added duties of Supt. G. R. McConnell. No action was reported.

Trustee Tea Decides Item For Agenda

Trustees of Tamalpais High School District closed their public board meeting last night, then over private "tea and crumpets" decided an item which will go on the trustee agenda for the next meeting.

The meeting at the district office on the Redwood High School campus ended at 10:50 p.m. Trustees and Supt. Chester G. Carlisle then went into a side room for their usual post-meeting snack.

They stayed for some minutes, and during the time decided to put a proposal for employee health and accident insurance on the agenda for the next meeting, Board Chairman Dr. J. M. Stubblebine said today.

Carlisle said the after-meeting snack was a board tradition which began years ago for trustees, staff and spectators and gradually dwindled to trustees, Carlisle and sometimes members of the administrative staff. Minutes and other district papers are signed at the session, he said. Anyone is "perfectly welcome," he emphasized.

Apartments Zone Denied By Hub Board

Rezoning for a neighborhood apartment district on property behind Hal's Auto and Marine, 526 Redhill Avenue, San Anselmo, was denied by the city's planning commission last night.

Charles R. Lietzell, city engineer, said the commissioners indicated they would prefer to rezone the area for planned development rather than the requested neighborhood apartment district, which would permit 36 dwelling units.

Leitzell said the applicant, Harold Sharrow, had indicated he would appeal the commission's decision to the city council.

The commission recommended council approval of a land exchange with Douglas Anawalt of some city park property at Forest Avenue and Creek Road.

Night Fight Charged To Marinites

Scheduled to appear June 30 before Petaluma Justice Court Judge Rolland C. Webb are:

Ronald D. Abrao, 21, of 609 C Street; Thomas D. Palmer, 19, of 523 D Street; Frank E. Molles, 25, of 83 Woodland Avenue: Richard W. Gudgel, 19, of 15 Charlott Drive, and Louis M. Molles, 28, of 11 Roger Drive.

All face charges of disurbing the peace and resisting arrest, while Frank Molles, Abrao and Gudgel also face a charge of battery. These three got out on $500 bail; the others posted $276.

Petaluma Police Officer James Matthews was treated at Petaluma General Hospital after he was hit during the fracas. It erupted as auto races were going on in the fairgrounds. Police assigned to the fairgrounds called for help to quell the fight.

Budget Session Set

The Tiburon Sanitary District will hold a budget hearing at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the district plant on Paradise Drive to decide on the proposed budget of about $41,000.

Novato School Budget Indicates $5 Tax Rate

Novato Unified School District trustees last night accepted a $5,105,945 budget for fiscal 1966, which will call for a tax rate of about $5 per $100 assessed valuation.

The board will meet next Monday at 8 p.m. for formal approval of the budget. Adoption will come after a public hearing, probably sometime in August when the district's tax revenues are known.

The tax rate is expected to be somewhere between the $4.95 total rate of Novato Unified District for the 1965 fiscal year and the combined San Jose Elementary-San Rafael High School District rate of $5.11 which was paid by residents of the San Jose district. It becomes part of the Novato district July 1.

The $5,105,945 figure is $7,000 higher than when the budget was submitted June 7. Supt. James G. Bunker said re-figuring of the cost of sending students from the former San Jose district to Terra Linda and San Rafael High Schools accounted for the difference.

The students will continue to attend high schools in the San Rafael district until a new school can be built in Novato.

The board adopted a summer recreation agreement with the City of Novato, providing for use of school playgrounds, which had been held up since February. In doing so, however, trustees, rejected a proposal by Mayor Robert D. Carrow and City Councilman William Jack Adams that school buses be used to transport children to playgrounds.

The Novato Unified School District Board Also:

1. Named Leonel Avilla full-time supervisor of transportation.

2. Discussed extending the limits for bussing junior high school pupils from one to one and one-half miles from school, and for high school students, from two to two and one-half miles. This would save two buses which would be needed for next year. No decision was reached.

3. Created the position of teaching principal for Hamilton School, but made no appointment to the position.

4. Approved agreement for next school year with the Marin County superintendent of schools for audio visual aids, mobile hearing tests, special education work and the rental of three classrooms for special education.

6. Gave the City of Novato a narrow strip of land at the Olive School for right of way for street and ditch construction.

7. Granted Vicky Bailey, San Jose teacher, maternity leave.

8. Hired Mrs. Marie Irene Andersen for counselor, Richard D. Knapp to teach mathematics and Bette R. Reese to teach English at Novato High School; James O. Judd to teach sixth grade and Mrs. Sharilyn Rae Cox, second grade, at Meadow Park School, and Mrs. Harriet H. Johnson, first grade at Loma Verde School.

Prior to the meeting of the new Novato Unified board, the old Novato Unified board approved final payment of warrants and ended its year (and existence) with $150,348 balance.

County Planners Postpone Synanon Zoning Decision

Consideration of a zone change for Synanon Foundation's 40 acres at Marshall was postponed last night by 4-3 vote of the Marin County Planning Commission.

The foundation is seeking a change from "interim D" zoning, which allows agricultural and single-family use, to multiple residential and resort.

Commissioners Margaret Azevedo, Harry H. Heifetz and Felix M. Warburg voted against delay. They argued that the change asked was in compliance with the use proposed in the West Marin Master Plan.

Commission Chairman Niels Schulty said other zone changes in West Marin have been delayed pending adoption of the West Marin plan. Other commissioners pointed to the dispute over a use permit for Synanon which is now in the courts.

Daniel L. Garrett Jr., attorney for Synanon Foundation, said Marin County Superior Court is to hold a trial on the use permit issue July 26, but he said he will probably seek a continuance.

At issue is Synanon's request for declaratory relief and the county's abatement proceeding against the drug addict treatment center. Synanon claims it does not need a use permit; the county claims it does.

Planning Director B. D. Dobbs argued last night the Synanon would still need a use permit if the change of zone were approved. Garrett opposed this view.

Dobbs said the foundation is closest to the definition used for seminaries or schools, and most of these have come in under use permits.

Garrett said Synanon was an "educational community."

Architect Ellis Kaplin, for Synanon, said that "Our dilemma is the total inability of the planning staff" to find a zoning classification that fits.

Kaplin said a steel company has offered to construct two buildings on the property. This, he said, has prompted the change of zone application.

Warburg suggested the property be put in a planned communtiy zone, but Dobbs said the parcel was too small to qualify for a planned community under the county code.

The Marin County Planning Commission also:

1. Approved the tentative map of Horseshoe Hill subdivision on 15 acres east of Bolinas, lifting an earlier requirement for dedication of an extra five feet of road right of way on Bolinas-Olema upper road.
2. Approved the Lucas Green master plan which will allow a shopping center on 10 acres at the southwest corner of Lucas Valley Road and Highway 101.
3. Continued until July 19 consideration of the recreational master plan.
4. Split 5-2 to approve the amended grading plan for Marin Highland unit 2 west of Novato, with Warburg and Commissioner Eugene Trombley dissenting.
5. Approved rezoning from single family residential to planned residential, permitting cluster development, on 15 acres owned by Trillium Corp. on shoreline highway and Trillium Lane in Tamalpais Valley, and set hearing on the master plan for the project for July 19.
6. Split 5-2, with Schultz and Heifetz dissenting,, to deny an amendment to the Harbor Point unit 2B grading plan which would have allowed three additional fill banks. Subdivider is Eichler Homes.
7. Approved plans for a truck scales building at 200 Bellam Boulevard, southeast of San Rafael, proposed by Redwood Builders.
8. Split 4-3, with Trombley, Upton and Warburg dissenting, to approve Frank Gelardi's plan for a service station garage at Tamalpais Junction, subject to approval by the department of public works of a proposed cut bank. The action was directed by the board of supervisors. Mrs. Azevedo voted yes "under protest," saying the decision had been taken out of the commission's hands by the board action.

Fire Station Smaller Plan Is Approved

The less expensive, smaller of two plans for a Corte Madera fire station east of Highway 101 was approved by the town council last night.

The plan, which meet with strong opposition from the volunteer firemen last month, was the first presented to the council by architect Harold B. Wagstaff.

The council chose the two-engine station over plans for a three-engine station, with a dormitory, a Pullman-type kitchen, apparatus room and small meeting room, because it could be paid from the $20,000 included for its construction in the bond issue for public safety buildings which was passed by the voters last year.

The second plan presented by Wagstaff, a Corte Madera volunteer fireman, would cost from $30,000 to $35,000, he said.

The Corte Madera Town Council also:

1. Set a meeting to adopt the preliminary fiscal 1966 budget for the town for 1965-66 at 7:30 p.m., July 1.
2. Voted to exclude $12,500 requested by the City of Larkspur in the budget for completion of Doherty Drive from Redwood High School to Highway 101.
3. Adopted a resolution asking the Marin County Board of Supervisors to exclude property within Corte Madera from paying county taxes for structural fire protection. Similar action has been taken by several other cities.
4. Denied a request for inclusion of Upper Sausalito Street in the town's maintenance system because it was not built to town standards. A request for installation of a sign designating the street a dead-end street was referred to the engineering staff.
5. Granted a request of G. Allen Pickrel of 3 Chicksaw Court for re-construction of the sidewalk and curb at Tamal Vista and Chickasaw Court and re-installation of a fire hydrant which is in the middle of the sidewalk in front of his home.
6. Referred a request for town maintenance of the entry way to Mariner Cove subdivision, section 5, to the engineering staff for study.
7. Agreed to participate in the summer recreation program taken over by the Larkspur Recreation Department from the Larkspur-Corte Madera Joint Recreation Commission. Corte Madera's share of the cost of the six-week program will be $2,735.30.
8. Adopted an ordinance prohibiting parking on portions of Casa Buena and Meadowsweet drives.
9. Postponed consideration of new building, plumbing and electrical codes until the July 6 meeting.
10. Set public hearing on an appeal from planning commission denial of a vehicle exit through the town park for 8 p.m. July 6.
11. Called for bids on replacement of the bottom of a storm drain on Chapman Drive, south of Tamalpais Drive, to be opened July 19.

Questioning Delays Budget Consideration

Efforts to adopt the city of Mill Valley fiscal 1966 budget last night came to naught when city Councilman Joseph E. Sheeks said he wanted to know three more things.

Sheeks wants the property tax rate, estimates, more information regarding sales tax revenues, and the city manager's salary for fiscal 1966.

Sheeks said $190,000 is allowed in the budget for sales taxes. "We have always exceeded our estimates on sales tax revenues but I'm not clear of what the loss of Campbell-Bishop and Volkswagen has been and the fact we are losing J. and B. Ford this coming year," he said.

City Mgr. Bert Balmer said the budget resolution before the council did not include salaries.

He said he needs budget adoption to give him authority to spend money at the end of June. If the budget is held up, he said, it would also mean holding up hiring new employees.

Balmer said he had no particular reason to second-guess the revenue estimate on sales tax, and that his salary could be set at any time.

"The chair will entertain a motion for adoption of the 1965-66 budget," said vice Mayor Albert E. White. There was no motion.

After further discussion White said the subject would be held over until there was a full council. Mayor Michael Wornum was absent with a cold.

Sheeks said the property tax rate is a particularly sensitive area and "from the standpoint of political expediency, we have to be sensitive as to whether it goes up or down."

Balmer said he has asked the county tax assessor twice for the estimated or final assessed valuation figure but it is not available.

Proposed fiscal 1966 budget is $2,280,334. Tax rate, now $2.30 per $100 assessed valuation, has not been estimated for 1966.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

1. Discussed, on councilman William M. Secor's suggestion, the city's curfew in relation to the city of Sausalito voting a more strict curfew ordinance, but took no action.
2. Adopted a resolution requesting the board of supervisors to exclude Mill Valley from county tax for structural fire protection. Balmer said this is expected to bring a one-cent county tax reduction for Mill Valley residents.
3. Authorized two stop signs at Hill Street and Sunnyside Avenue and heard from John Fraser, 91 Sunnyside, that "speeding is the biggest problem on Sunnyside."
4. Adjourned to Tuesday, July 6, as July 5 will be a holiday.

Silver Dollars Theft Admitted

A 13-year-old San Rafael boy admitted to the theft of 10 silver dollars from the bedroom of Timothy F. Harr of 101 Nova Albion Way, Apt. 13, San Rafael, yesterday afternoon after he tried to exchange the silver for paper at Kim's Sound Center in the Northgate Shopping Center.

The clerk at the Sound Center had been asked to watch for youngsters with silver dollars in connection with a different theft last week.

The boy first denied the theft, saying he got the silver from his mother who had been at Lake Tahoe during the weekend. His mother later told police she had been at Santa Cruz, not the lake, and the boy confessed the theft.

Request On Agenda

Request for architectural supervision on a 12-unit apartment house at Cane and Holcomb streets in Larkspur will be discussed by the Larkspur Planning Commission at 8 p.m. today in City Hall.

Forgery Complaint Is Dismissed

Baird, of Casa Buena Motel in Corte Madera, was arrested June 1 by San Rafael police after allegedly passing a worthless $10 check to Charles L. Ritzinger last April 21 in San Rafael.

Lawn Edger Torn

Mrs. L. DeSoto of 43 Knight Drive, San Rafael, complained to police yesterday that vandals had torn up a wood lawn edger from the front of her home.

Three-Story Motel Proposal Is Studied

Plans for a three-story, 61-unit motel were viewed last nighmt by the Tiburon Planning Commission, which withheld a decision on the request use permit until it could study recommendations of the citizens planning advisory committee.

Tiburon designer Louis Britt put forth his plans, backed by developer Robert Moor of San Francisco, who castigated the commission for delaying a decision.

The proposed development includes a one-story office building and motel with cocktail lounge and restaurant. It would be on Tiburon Boulevard near Paradise Drive.

Planning commissioners agreed to hold off decision until their July 6 meeting when they will have studied the advice of the citizens group. A questionaire to all committee members asks their views and the answers will be tabulated by July 1.

The commission approved plans for 42 apartment units to be constructed, two to four units to a building, on Marinero Circle by Tiburon Development Associates, represented last night by Kurt Heath of Mill Valley.

D.A. Moves Against Tree Topper

Deputy Dist. Atty. Donald E. Paterson Jr. filed in Marin Superior Court a nuisance complaint and request for an injunction against Stanley W. Taylor, whose excavating and tree cutting on Tiburon Peninsula have roused the ire of neighbors.

The complaint alleges that grading and filling by Taylor violate conditions of his March 9 county permit and will cause irreparable injury to the neighborhood unless he is enjoined from continuing the work.

Specifically, it charges that Taylor made cuts of 26 feet—six feet more than permitted, made fills without supervision of a soils engineer, and constructed improper fill slopes.

It asks that the result be declared a public nuisance, and that Taylor and his wife, Isabelle, be ordered to correct the nuisance.

Motorist Injured On Road To Tiburon

John A. Whitman, 18, of Mill Valley, was reported in "satisfactory" condition today in Marin General Hospital with a back injury following a two-vehicle collision yesterday.

Whitman, of 507 Northern Avenue, Mill Valley, was driving east on Tiburon Boulevard at 7:15 a.m. when his pick-up truck was struck by a car driven by Ethel P. Curtice, 65, of 10 Niela Way, Mill Valley, heading onto the boulevard from a frontage road near the Alto overpass, highway patrolmen reported. She was ticketed for failing to yield the right of way.

Ross School Budget Up By $11,473

The Ross School District board last night approved a preliminary fiscal 1966 budget of $343,581, or $11,473 more than the current year's budget of $332,108.

It will call for an operating tax rate of about $2.58 per $100 of assessed valuation. Residents also will pay a 13-cent special tax rate and a 30-cent bond redemption tax for a total district tax rate of $3.01.

Public hearing on the budget will be held sometime in August.

Supt. William W. Monahan reported on the work of the Tamalpais Superintendents Study Council in cooperative curriculum planning. Members of the council are superintendents of the elementary districts within Tamalpais High School District.

He said the council plans to devote the entire next school year to the problem of what educators call "articulation"—providing a smooth transition from elementary school to high school.

Monahan said individual districts had worked on the problem before with the high school districts, but this would be the first time all districts combined their efforts to study the matter.

The board approved participation in the county audio-visual services at a cost of $800; library services at $1,700, mobile hearing testing services at $175, and the special education agreement, for which the district is reimbursed by the state.

The contract of Martha Collins as a half-time French teacher was approved. William von Lockum was appointed inspector for the school construction and renovation project, and Abbott and Hanks of San Rafael was appointed construction testing laboratory.

The board discussed student behavior and discipline, heard views of the audience, but took no action. Nonahan said the district wanted to run a tightly disciplined school, and wanted to find out the best way to do it.

Satire On Screen To Help Effort

"Gone are the Days," a film satire on the old South, starring Godfrey Cambridge, Ossie Davis and Ruby Dee, will be presented at the Tiburon Playhouse tomorrow at 7:15 and 9:15 p.m. for the benefit of the Marin to Mississippi project.

Admission includes an item of packaged food which will be sent to Mississipp families who lost their incomes because they attended civil rights meetings or attempted to register to vote.

Tam Trustees Get Story About Top Soil Removal

John S. Hoffmire Jr. of Tiburon gave trustees of Tamalpais High School District the "story of the dirt" last night.

Hoffmire apologized to the board for a mistake he said he made in granting permission for top soil removal from land the school district wants to purchase for a high school site.

Trustees became incensed two weeks ago when they learned they were buying top soil for a Tamalpais High School athletic field from the site they are buying for a school in Tiburon.

The 53 acres off Reed Ranch Road on the Tiburon Peninsula is under condemnation proceedings by the school district. It is being held by trustees in bankruptcy for the owners, said Hoffmire, of Consolidated Holdings, Inc., San Rafael.

Hoffmire said he gave permission for some top soil removal more than three years ago, when the school district did not yet own the land. He said he did not realize that much of the top soil was being taken to Tamalpais High School.

Hoffmire said the top soil removal had not harmed the site. He promised to credit some $3,500 profit from soil sale to the school district.

Fairfax May Keep Present Tax Rate

The Fairfax City Council last night indicated that the city's tax rate of $1.84 per $100 assessed valuation will be retained for fiscal 1966.

At the first of three budget sessions, the council agreed to set aside $4,425 for future recreation projects.

Prior to the session, City Administrator David J. Sumbardo reported the tax rate could be lowered to $1.797 if there were no reserve allocated to recreation.

The proposed budget of $388,373 is $51,390 higher than the fiscal 1965 budget, but Sumbardo said the increase is expected to be covered by a five per cent increase in the city's assessed valuation and rises in revenue from other sources.

Councilmen agreed that although the recreation commission had not listed any capital improvement project during the next year, the city should have a reserve for recreation.

They also agreed to seek a greater contribution toward recreation from the Fairfax School District under the joint agreement between the city and the school district.

Councilman Robert R. Souza said the school district's community services fund "belongs to the city as well as the school district, and we ought to see if we can do better than the paltry $500 we get now."

The council agreed to ask the school district to contribute 50 per cent of the yearly cost of the recreation program, or about $2,000.

The council is scheduled to review salaries at its second budget session at 7:30 p.m. today at the Fairfax Women's Club, and discuss budget requests with department heads at 7:45 p.m. tomorrow.

Sumbardo recommended two-and-one-half per cent pay raises for members of the police and fire departments, but made no recommendation for across-the-board increases for other city employees.

During the discussion, Sumbardo reminded councilmen they could grant themselves a salary of $150 a month, under new legislation, but they by-passed such a move.

"That's all we'd have to do!" said Councilman W. E. Radtke.

Councilman Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. expressed concern when Sumbardo reported that sales tax revenues were below estimate.

At a special session prior to budget review, the council agreed to hire Warren Jones and Associates as planning consultants, at cost estimated at $666.

They rejected an offer by developer Matthew Farr to contribute up to $300 toward the cost of the planning consultant, because the consultant will be planning land owned by Farr.

Arrigoni asked if the city were going to have to hire a consultant every time a planned unit development is being considered.

Sumbardo said the consultant will recommend changes in the planned unit development ordinance so there will not be so much need for an expert hereafter.

Tam High Tax Gets Boost; Administrators Raised

A tentative budget of $6,361,000 for fiscal 1966, which will mean a rise in the operating tax rate of approximately two and one-half cents, was approved last night by trustees of Tamalpais High School District.

The present operating tax rate is $1.875. It is included with bond redemption costs, and retirement figures in the district's total rate this year of $1.985 per $100 assessed valuation.

The operating rate for the next fiscal year is expected to rise the maximum allowable without further voter approval, $1.90.

Trustees will hold a public hearing on the budget sometime in August.

The budget rose from the preliminary figure of $6,147,000 in early May as trustees granted raises to all district personnel except Supt. Chester G. Carlisle.

Carlisle said after the meeting that he had not asked the board for a raise and that the initiative for one normally would come from trustees.

He is the highest paid school administrator in Marin, with a salary of $24,750 yearly.

Salaries of other administrators went up automatically when trustees granted pay raises to teachers, as administrators' salaries, except that of Carlisle, are tied to the maximum salary that a teacher may now earn. This was raised to $12,500.

Robert D. Torrey, assistant superintendent, $19,300; Eunice E. Reader, director of pupil personnel, $18,100; Frank A. Cassou, director of business services, $18,100; James L. Pierce, director of instruction, $17,500; Janet M. Lyon, director of special education, $14,950;

Edward J. Neumeier, administrative assistant, $16,200; John R. George, coordinator of child welfare and attendance, $15,000; Robert J. Maher, coordinator of work education and experience program, $15,000; Grace G. Cox, psychologist, $13,750; Albert Brokes, psychologist, $12,800;

James A. Fitzgerald, principal of evening and summer school sessions, $15,600; Harold Allison, principal of Drake High School, $18,700; Donald Kreps, principal of Redwood, $18,700; Robert H. Prather, principal of Tamalpais, $18,700;

Francis P. Shafter, assistant principal of Drake, $15,600; Jack R. Baatt, assistant principal of Redwood, $15,600; Raymond J. Bell, assistant principal of Tamalpais, $15,600; Jean E. Burns, girls dean, Drake, $14,700; Mrs. Emma J. Wulzen, girls dean, Redwood, $14,700; Alice M. Dolan, girls dean, Tam, $14,700; Paul Bosque, boys dean, Fedwood, $13,900.

BUT HOW?

San Rafael Wants Courthouse Vote

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The City of San Rafael would like to have some say about what happens to the county courthouse site in the center of town, but city officials are not quite sure just how to get it.

The matter was brought up at last night's city council meeting by Mayor C. Paul Bettini. Noting that the county is about to put the property up for sale, he said "it's time we should do some thinking."

He proposed that the city: (1) "establish right of first refusal" on purchase of the site; (2) "establish a zone directive over the site so that no matter what the circumstances of the site's development, you would be assured that it would not be subdivided"; (3) start a professional study of the best use of the property, and (4) when the first three are accomplished, "proceed with the entertainment of proposals of development by investor groups."

The flaw in Severin's proposal, said City Atty. David Menary Jr., is that the city does not have the funs available to buy the land and cannot legally commit future tax funds for such a purpose.

Without purchase, he suggested, the city's only control may be by zoning. The courthouse square is now unzoned.

City Planner George H. Rodgers said that, so long as the land is unzoned, a use permit is required for any development, so the city has some control.

Councilman L. H. Bod Baar suggested it be put in a "planned commercial" zone. Rodgers pointed out that the city now has no ordinance for such a zone.

Baar suggested federal funds might be available which would enable the city to acquire the land through an urban renewal project.

"I do think we should formally advise the board of supervisors we would like to exercise some control over purchase of this land," said Mayor Bettini.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen was instructed to so inform the board. Also, he was told to investigate the possibility of federal funds and report at the July 6 council meeting.

County Education Board Due Teacher Pay Request

The San Rafael Board of Education will wrestle with a teacher demand for larger pay increase at its session at 7:30 p.m. today at E Street School.

Teachers, seeking a 5.7 per cent salary hike, have challenged the 3.2 per cent increase voted by the board.

The board also will consider raising salaries of three administrators by amending their contracts, effective July 1.

Supt. Bert C. Corona has recommended that Charles L. Condrotte, business manager, be raised from $11,000 to $11,500; Asst. Supt. William C. Jordan, $15,000 to $15,600, and Asst. Supt. Mitchell L. Voydat, $15,500 to $16,100.

Teachers' salaries are scheduled to be discussed by James Sutton, field representative for the California Teachers Assn., and Hollis Newcomb, president of the San Rafael Teachers Assn.

A group of 83 teachers demanded on June 8 that the board call a tax increase election in August or agree to levy an extra override tax to finance a 5.7 per cent pay hike.

The board took no action, but agreed to discuss salaries tonight.

Board members also are scheduled to consider setting an election to increase the elementary school district tax rate and the amount of the proposed increase.

The board is scheduled to meet in a closed session at the end of its regular session to discuss special faculty assignments and possibly dismissals or hiring.

Among other items on the agenda is a recommendation that the school calendar for 1965-66 be changed to cut attendance days to 177, with schools closing June 9, 1966.

Cripple Killing Duo Sentenced

SANTA ANA (AP)—Two men who said they killed a paraplegic at his request began today prison terms of 1 to 10 years at San Quentin.

The paraplegic, Jack Raymond Flager, 36, of nearby Garden Grove, was shot to death with a shotgun in his wheelchair last Jan. 27.

Jesse Mario Leal, 27, and Kai H. Henricksen Jr., 22, pleaded guilty last Friday of voluntary manslaughter. They said Flager offered them $40 and an old car to kill him and that Leal lost the toss of a coin and fired the fatal shot.

Investigators said Flager had tried three times previously to arrange his death. They said the three knew each other in Cedar City, Utah, before they came to California.

Corte Madera Coed To Visit Yugoslavia

Lynn Danforth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Danforth of 300 Corte Madera Avenue, Corte Madera, will leave New York July 1 for a two-month stay in Yugoslavia under the Experiment in International Living program.

Miss Danforth, a graduate of Redwood High School, received a bachelor's degree in sociology from Whittier College in Whittier this month. After returning from her trip in August, she will attend Washington University in St. Louis, Mo., for graduate study and a master's degree in social welfare.

Tire Swap Charged

Ted Wallace Bloyd, 19, of 727 Bradley Avenue, Novato; Donnell Howard Hughes, 22, of Belmont, and Eugene Eddy Frank, 18, of El Cerrito were booked in county jail by San Rafael police Saturday on charges of car tampering. Police said the three were seen removing a wheel from a car at 15 Don Timoteo Court and replacing it with a flat tire from the same make of car.

Tiburon To Consider Fire Tax Exclusion

The Tiburon Fire Commission will hold a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the main fire station on Tiburon Boulevard to decide whether district property owners should continue to pay the county fire protection tax in addition to the local fire district levy.

Directors also will consider allowing use of a fire station room as a temporary substation by Marin County sheriff's deputies who patrol Tiburon under a contract between city and county.

Market Higher, Shows Recovery From Slide

Stocks staged a recovery from yesterday's slide. Analysts saw the list as groping for direction.

The opening was steady and the price level soon began to move definitely higher. Prices kept improving gradually but undramatically.

Xerox was up 3. Gains of a point or better were made by Eastman Kodak, Jersey Standard, Zenith, Boeing and U. S. Smelting.

Permian was off ⅛ at 13⅝ on a late block of 48,800 shares.

Volume for the day was estimated at 3.4 million shares compared with 3.28 million yesterday.

Gains of fractions to a point or so were made by most key stocks.

The list had recouped more than half of the losses taken in Monday's setback.

The tone was generally higher among steels, motors, oils, aerospace issues, electrical equipments, electronics and chemicals.

Xerox rose 4, U.S. Smelting more than 2.

Studebaker, up a point, was the best gainer among leading autos. Ford was off a fraction as a big secondary distribution of Ford stock was made. General Motors and Chrysler rose fractionally.

Gains of around a point were made by such stocks as Union Carbide, Kennecott, Boeing, Westinghouse Electric and Control Data.

One-point gains were made by Northwest Airlines, Texas Gulf Sulphur, Pfaudler-Permutit, National Cash Register, Litton Industries, Central & Southwestern and Allegheny Ludlum.

Coca-Cola Seeks Approval Of Automated Bottling Plant

A new Coca-Cola bottling plant is proposed at the northeast corner of Highway 101 and the San Quentin Wye overpass, east of San Rafael.

It would be an electronic operation, employing only six men, according to Edmund Myers, local distributor. With truck drivers and office staff, employees would total 25, he told the Marin County Planning Commission last night.

The commission, asked to give the building architectural approval, referred the plans to a committee of commissioners, William F. Upton and Harry H. Heifetz, to study the possibility of landscaping to partially screen the steel building from the highway.

Meyer was told that he would have to get a variance for fewer than the required parking spaces.

The 3.5-acre site is in a manufacturing zone. From the floor space involved, 118 parking spaces would be required. The plan shows 9½ spaces.

Estate Course

An eight-week course on "Principles of Federal Estate and Gift Taxation" will begin tomorrow at University of California Extension, San Francisco. It is designed for accountants, businessmen and others interested in estate taxes and methods of minimizing death and inheritance taxes. Meetings will be held 9 a.m. to noon on Wednesday mornings through Aug. 11. Enrollment is $35.

Pointers for Profit

If you know of an expert in the securities field who can tell you when to buy or when to sell; if you subscribe to a service or services which offer the same information; or if you have friends in the management of companies who can provide you with confidential data, then you are not in need of our service or any advisory-planning service. Such information could advance your equities far faster than we could. However, I ask each of you to review your financial situation over the past years. If you have followed the experts, utilized services, and gained advance information, how has your position fared?

Current comments, actions, and changes, cause the market to react contrary to the best laid plans. For example, only last week the accumulated profits of a year or more were wiped out by unforeseen activities. Everyone has a different explanation for the "dip," however, I feel that such action was primarily triggered by the speech given by Mr. William Martin of the Federal Reserve Board.

We can never guarantee immunity from short term fluctuations, for there is no crystal ball to foretell the decisions and actions of individuals. We can, however, assure you that sound management of your affairs, regardless of daily fluctuating conditions, will, over a period of years, place you in a secure and advantageous position. Our service is designed to provide you with just such management.

NFL Plucks Rich Atlanta Plum; AFL Bows Out

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Atlanta will become the 15th team in the expanded National Football League in 1966 with a group headed by insurance man Rankin Smith Jr. of Atlanta as the likely owner.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle will screen the four or five applicants with the understanding that a lease on the new $18 million stadium is a must.

Although the rival American Football League also voted a 1966 franchise to the Cox Broadcasting Corp. of Atlanta on June 8, the nine-man Stadium Authority reportedly is overwhelmingly in favor of the NFL. Arthur Montgomery, chairman of the board has set a July 1 deadline for a decision on the lease.

"We feel there is very, very strong sentiment in Atlanta and the state of Georgia for an NFL franchise," said Rozelle after announcing the award of the franchise yesterday by a unanimous vote.

Joe Foss, AFL commissioner who was in New York for a meeting with his league's expansion committee, commented:

"All I can say is congratulations to the NFL," and added that the problem of getting the AFL into Atlanta rested with the Cox group.

Atlanta kicked up its heels and celebrated when sports fans heard the NFL news. "We're in the big leagues now," they shouted at the stadium where 38,402 watched the Milwaukee Braves (Atlanta Braves in 1966) play an exhibition baseball game with Minnesota.

The legal counsel for the Stadium Authority, Robert Richardson, said the group "would meet promptly on the matter, but I can't say exactly when."

Rozelle said he would screen the applicants before selecting one and then would ask the club owners for approval of his choice in a telephone vote. "I feel they will accept my recommendation," said Rozelle who will begin negotiating immediately.

In answer to questions, Rozelle identified three of the groups. He said Smith headed one group, Lindsey Hopkins Jr. headed another and William Reynolds of Richmond headed a third.

"The league is not interested in large groups," said Rozelle. "It is interested in one individual with at least 51 per cent of the stock."

Although Rozelle would not preliminary screening, it was learned that the group headed by Smith, an Atlanta man, has the edge at the moment. No firm price for a franchise was announced.

This is the first step of a major expansion by the NFL which will have 16 teams in 1967, divided into two conferences, each split into two divisions.

The Atlanta team will operate as a swing team and will play each of the 14 other teams once in 1966. As a result, the season will run 15 weeks and each team will have a one-week bye.

Atlanta will count in the Eastern Conference standings in '66.

The team will have first draft pick next December and will have one extra draft selection in each of the first five rounds.

Stocking with veteran players will be set up at the February meeting. It is likely that Atlanta will get three men from each of the 14 teams with an indeterminate number of players exempt from selection.

"I consider this move very important," said Rozelle. "Not because of the television riches of the South but because it is the first step to 16 teams, two divisions and extra playoff games that should produce more television revenue. Yes, the Atlanta club will share equally in the next television contract."

The current contract with CBS for $14.1 million per year expires after the 1965 season.

Rozelle said their had been no talk of a possible site for the 16th franchise in 1967. "We think it is better to stock our new clubs in stages," he said. "We will consider all the material turned up by a market research bureau that is surveying the various cities.

The last expansion by the NFL was the addition of Dallas in 1960 and the activation of a Minnesota Vikings' franchise in 1961.

Grateful Gary Donates $25,000 Prize To U.S. Golf

Player Savors Honor More Than The Money

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Gary Player, a black-clad little South African with a flair for the dramatic, deftly etched his name among a select list of golf's immortals and said that was enough, he had all he wanted, the money wasn't important.

"The money is immaterial—the honor is the thing," Player said yesterday, after winning the U.S. Open Golf Championship and immediately turned his $25,000 check over to the U.S. Golf Assn.

His three-stroke victory over Australian Kel Nagle in the 18-hole playoff made him the first foreign winner in 45 years and only the third man ever to sweep the four big prizes of professional golf — the U.S. and British Opens, the PGA and the Masters.

He now stands with Gene Sarazen and Ben Hogan at the pinnacle unattained by any others, the legendary figures of another era or the giants of today.

Walter Hagen missed the Masters. Byron Nelson never won the British Open. Sam Snead is still trying for the U.S. Open. Bobby Jones was an amateur.

The forgotten man in golf's big three, Player reasserted his right to a spot in that company in overwhelming fashion. Arnold Palmer has yet to win the PGA. Jack Nicklaus has yet to win the British Open.

"I have made most of my money and won most of my golfing fame in this country," Player said in announcing his intention to turn the check over to the USGA.

"I feel I owe this country a great deal. I feel it is my duty to do something for this country and for golf.

"So I'm turning the check over to Joe Dey (executive director of the USGA) and asking him to give $5,000 to the Cancer Fund. My mother died of cancer. The rest, I would like to see funneled into junior golf in this country.

He gave $2,000 to his caddie, Frank Pagel, 16.

The actual prize money was $25,000, but the USGA put another $1,000 into the pot for both Player and Nagle after they tied at the end of 72 holes at 282 and the 18-hole playoff went into effect.

Player leaped into command at the start, taking a birdie 4 while the 44-year-old Australian bogeyed the first hole of the vastly frustrating 7,191-yard Bellerive Country Club course.

Player ran in birdie putts of 35 feet each on the next two holes, went 2-up and, for all intents and purposes, it was over. Nagle was never even again.

The close-trotting Australian, who forced the tie when Player blew a three-stroke lead with three holes to play the day before, wrecked his chances with a shattering double bogey on the fifth.

"When we walked up, the lady was lying there," Player said. "I did that once in South Africa. It can make you sick. I didn't want to concentrate on the next shot.

"Kel said, 'I feel awful, Gary,' and I said, 'so do I.'

"I feel it upset Kel."

Nagle's next shot also whipped into the crowd, glancing off a woman's ankle.

"He must have felt horrible," Player said. "It was like a butcher shop."

Gary had a five-stroke advantage at the turn. He held it, playing his usual brand of conservative, control golf, until the last two holes when he took cautious bogeys.

Player said he now plans to return to South Africa to be with

CADDY GETS PAID WELL FOR CHORES

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Young Frank Pagel lost a night's sleep but was pretty well paid for it.

Like $2,000.

That was the prize South Africa's Gary Player gave his 16-year-old caddy after winning the U.S. Open Golf Championship yesterday, believed to be the most ever given a caddy.

"I'll spend part of it on a motorcycle and put the rest away to go to college," Pagel said.

He said he had drawn Player in the caddy draft.

"They called me at home and said I had Player, and I was excited I didn't get any sleep," Pagel said. "I knew he was going to win."

Someone asked why.

The Champ's Wife Cheers, Dad Weeps

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — "It's Gary's greatest triumph," said Vivienne Player, today on hearing of her husband's victory in the U.S. Open Golf Championship.

"I'm terribly proud of him. The tension has been almost unbearable, but I'm glad it's all over now," she told The Associated Press.

Player's father, Harry, wept unashamedly when he heard his son had won the playoff.

The Player family had been sitting close to the telephone in their Johannesburg home listening to a hole by hole commentary relayed to them by South African Press Association newsmen.

Player is expected to return to South Africa tomorrow, his wife said.

RALSTON OVERCOMES RICHARDSON, THUMB

Dennis Wins In London Despite His Sore Digit

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Sore-thumbed Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., outlasted 31-year-old Hamilton Richardson of Dallas in a two-day tennis duel and advanced to the second round of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships today with a 15-13, 9-7, 6-2 victory.

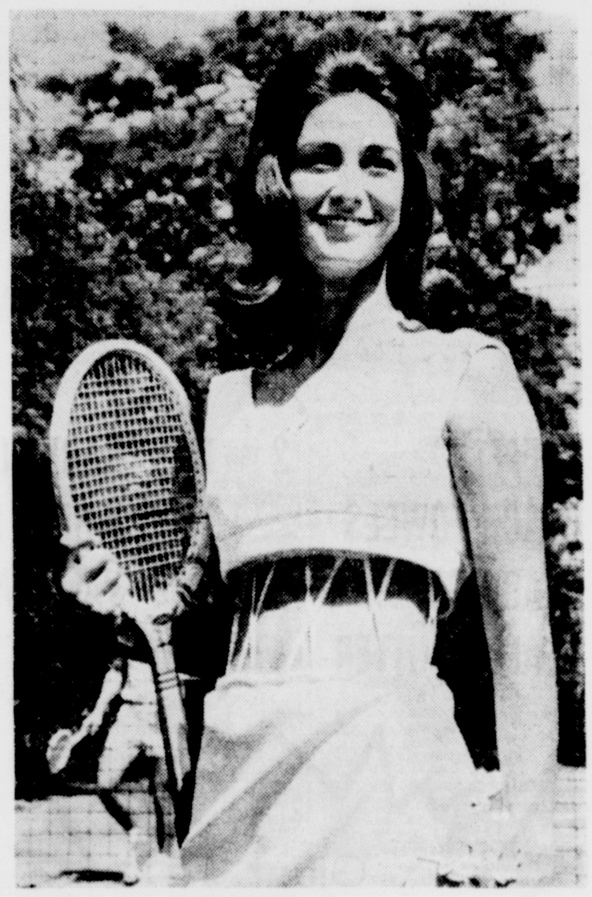

The match was begun yesterday but was called because of rain with Ralston leading 7-6 in the first set. It took nearly 2½ hours to finish the match on Wimbledon's center court today.

Ralston, the top-ranked U.S. player and seeded No. 4 here, welcomed the interruption because it gave him a chance to rest his right thumb, injured in a fall on the court in a doubles match Friday. He played with an elastic bandage wrapped around his thumb and extending up to his wrist.

Two other Americans, both unseeded, advanced to the second round in early matches. Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., defeated Nick Kalogeropoulos of Greece 6-4, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3 and Tom Brown of San Francisco defeated Geoff Battrick of Britain 6-4, 6-3, 6-2. Brown was a Wimbledon finalist against Jack Kramer in 1947, the year Battrick was born.

GIANTS' PERRY VS. PIRATES' LAW TONIGHT

The San Francisco Giants are playing so well that they might even get some hits for Gaylord Perry tonight against Pittsburgh at Candlestick Park.

The Giants have managed only four hits for Perry in his last two starts as Pittsburgh's Vern Law took a 2-1 three-hitter and Claude Osteen of the Dodgers tossed a 3-0 one-hit victory.

San Francisco last week came home from a 6-7 road trip during which it scored only 27 runs, but has won four in a row at home.

Sunday's twin win over the red-hot Bucs was especially welcome news since the Giant sluggers pounded 28 hits in the two games.

Willie Mays broke out of his slump with seven hits and jumped back into the batting race with a .342 mark, one point back of Milwaukee's Hank Aaron.

Willie McCovey and Jim Hart also turned in some timely base knocks and Mays, McCovey and Hart are the men who make the Giant attack roll.

Manager Herman Franks said he would use Jack Sanford tomorrow against Pittsburgh and Juan Marichal in the opener Thursday against Philadelphia "if everything goes according to form—which it hardly ever does."

The Giant lineup tonight is still uncertain. Shortstop Dick Schofield got banged up by two rough plays at second base Sunday and Jesus Alou banged a foul ball off his foot.

The Pirates will start Law against Perry tonight. Law will be looking for his seventh consecutive win after losing his first five starts. Perry is 6-6.

The Giants were idle yesterday, but still made progress. The Los Angeles Dodgers lost a bizarre 1-0 battle to the New York Mets and the fourth-place Giants are one game out of second place and four games back of front-running Los Angeles.

24-5 WHIPPING

Mill Valley Team Slightly Dizzy

If the Mill Valley Merchants were stumbling about in slightly dizzy fashion yesterday, blame it on their unfortunate encounter Sunday with a greedy Benedetti semi-pro baseball team from San Francisco that wouldn't refuse the generous charity of the Merchants.

Scoring 11 runs in an eighth inning graced by just two base hits but plenty of walks and errors, the Benedettis pounded the Merchants 24-5 in what had been advertised as a baseball game. Six Mill Valley pitchers toiled on behalf of the Benedettis, who may never see a more bountiful Father's Day. Frank Burch of USF took the loss.

The day before the Merchants had visited San Quentin and run smack into Joe Richardson, who once worked in the St. Louis Cardinal chain, and Joe set them down on four hits for a 3-1 victory over Dave Perlis. Perlis gave the winners just five safeties, but they scored two runs on attempted double plays.

Sunday the Merchants will tackle Hatzell Radio at 2 p.m. in El Cerrito. Like the Benedetti affair, this will be a Bay Area Invitational League struggle.

Dick Hamilton Captures San Rafael Ace Tourney

Dick Hamilton of 3 Main Court, Fairfax, won the San Rafael National Little League hole-in-one golf contest last weekend at Peacock Gap with a distance of 35½ inches from the pin.

Hamilton, co-owner of the Alibi Club tavern in San Rafael, thus won a weekend for two at the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas. Second prize, a weekend for two in Reno, went to John W. Nichols of 108 Corrillo Drive, San Rafael, who placed a ball 37¼ inches from the pin. Walter Kessler of 144 Auburn Street, San Rafael, won the third prize, a weekend for two at the Red Carpet at Lake Tahoe by coming within 37½ inches of the pin.

Twenty-eight other entrants won prizes for putting a ball inside a circle of 10 foot radius around the pin. All prizes were donated by merchants in the area, and each contestant paid a dollar to hit three balls. Proceeds go to the Little League.

Jim Brown Pleads Innocent To Girl's Assault Charge

CLEVELAND, (AP) — Jim Brown, Cleveland Browns fullback, entered a plea of innocent today in Municipal Court to an assault and battery charge brought against him by an 18-year-old girl.

A jury trial was set for Sept. 20.

Maximum penalty for the offense with which Brown is charged is a $200 fine and six months imprisonment.

Brown is free on $200 personal bond.

When Brown appeared in court today, his case was called promptly and he left a few minutes later without commenting. His accuser, Brenda Ayres, was in the prosecutor's office at the time. She alleges that Brown slapped her several times about the face and body in an east side motel room early Sunday.

The fullback's only comment yesterday when charges were filed was:

"I am not that small that I have to beat a girl."

Both Brown, a father of three, and Miss Ayres are Negroes.

Art Modell, Browns president, said when reached in New York where he is attending an NFL meeting:

"I will reserve any opinion until I have a chance to talk with Jim. It is easy to level charges, but as far as I'm concerned, Jim is innocent until I have further facts."

Dodgers In Trouble And They Know It

By GEORGE C. LANGFORD
UPI Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers have a 3½ game lead in the National League and about the best pitching staff in baseball—and they're in trouble.

Just ask Claude Osteen or any of the other Dodger pitchers who are about ready to throw up their hands in despair over their non-support grievance with the Los Angeles hitters.

Osteen, in his last two starts, pitched 13 consecutive no-hit innings and has only one victory and one loss to show for his classy effort.

The Dodger lefty was working on a no-hitter against the New York Mets last night until Joe Christopher beat out a bunt down the third base line opening the seventh inning. Billy Cowan finally reached Osteen for a home run leading off the ninth — his first of the season — and the Mets won 1-0.

The Houston Astros defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 6-2 in the only other National League game scheduled. All 10 American League teams had the day off.

The Dodger offense never really threatened little Al Jackson, who allowed only three hits in beating Los Angeles for the first time after eight consecutive defeats. It was the third triumph in 12 decisions for the Met lefthander, and the first time the New York entry has ever beaten Los Angeles twice in succession.

The frightening facts about the Dodgers are:

—They rank 20th in the majors in home runs and 15th in runs scored and runs batted in.

—Lou Johnson, their only legitimate .300 hitter, is sidelined along with the Davis boys, Willie and Tommy. All three have broken bones.

—Don Drysdale has hurled complete games in his last two starts and lost both.

And the Dodgers' 3½ game bulge is misleading. They actually trail second-place Milwaukee by one game in the important loss column and are only two games ahead of fourth-place San Francisco in that category.

Dick Farrell hurled a six-hitter and singled in two runs while earning his fifth victory in seven decisions for the Astros. Lee Maye tripled home two runs to break up a 1-1 pitching duel between Farrell and Ray Culp of the Phillies in the seventh and accounted for another with a single.

The crowd of 18,271 in the Astrodome gave Houston a new single season record with 931,508 customers in 36 home dates this season.

Lindgren Defies Threat By NCAA In Track Battle

SAN DIEGO (AP) — America's college track and field athletes, hamstrung by the bubbling, boiling AAU-NCAA sanctioning feud, are feeling the pressure this week as trials for the United States-USSR meet approach.

At least one athlete, Washington State University freshman distance star Gerry Lindgren, has boiled over, announcing he's entering the AAU meet in San Diego this weekend despite NCAA threats.

Athletes finishing first or second in the Amateur Athletic Union track championships this Saturday and Sunday will win berths on the U. S. team that meets the Russians.

Said Lindgren:

"I resent the way we have been given a choice between our nationalistic pride and the reign of terror the NCAA hangs over us. If I lose my NCAA status, I'd much rather lose that.

"I felt I would try to make the U. S.-Russia team instead of sitting back all summer because the NCAA made threats. I'm sure the NCAA, when they find out what I'm going to do, is going to make a lot of threats at me and the school. I'll probably get in a lot of hot water and lose my scholarship and have to go to another school.

"I kind of felt the first time I started running that I would help American distance running as much as I could."

Lindgren will run the six-mile distance at the meet this weekend.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association has warned that schools and athletes would be penalized if they compete in the AAU meet, which is not sanctioned by the NCAA.

LENGTHY FEUD

The two organizations have engaged in a lengthy feud concerning athletic jurisdiction. The disagreement could keep many American college athletes from competing in international meets.

The American team will meet the Russians in Kiev in July.

A slim 125-pounder, Lindgren first reached international prominence when he first defeated the Russians at 10,000 meters at the Los Angeles dual meet last year.

Undergraduates expected to participate in the AAU meet include Bob Day of UCLA in the mile run, Bernie Rivers of the University of New Mexico in the 100 and 220, Larry Quested of Stanford in the 100 and 220, Jerry Lynch of Harvard in the 440-yard hurdles, Otis Burrell of the University of Nevada in the high jump, and Tom Farrell of St. Johns University in the 880.

Harvard University also decided yesterday to permit members of its track squad to compete in San Diego.

"We are not fighting the AAU's battle," said director of athletics Adolph W. Samberski, "but we have approved participation of our athletes in this meet in the past, and we shall continue to do so."

Bob Schul, world record holder in the 2-mile run and winner of the 5,000-meter event in Tokyo last year, attended the NCAA championships in Berkeley last week, but said he wasn't there as an AAU representative.

EXPLAIN IMPORTANCE

"I wasn't there to recruit these boys, but to explain the importance of representing their country and what it should mean to them. I am vitally interested in the athletes and the team that will represent us in Europe.

Will the athletes defy the NCAA and run in the AAU?

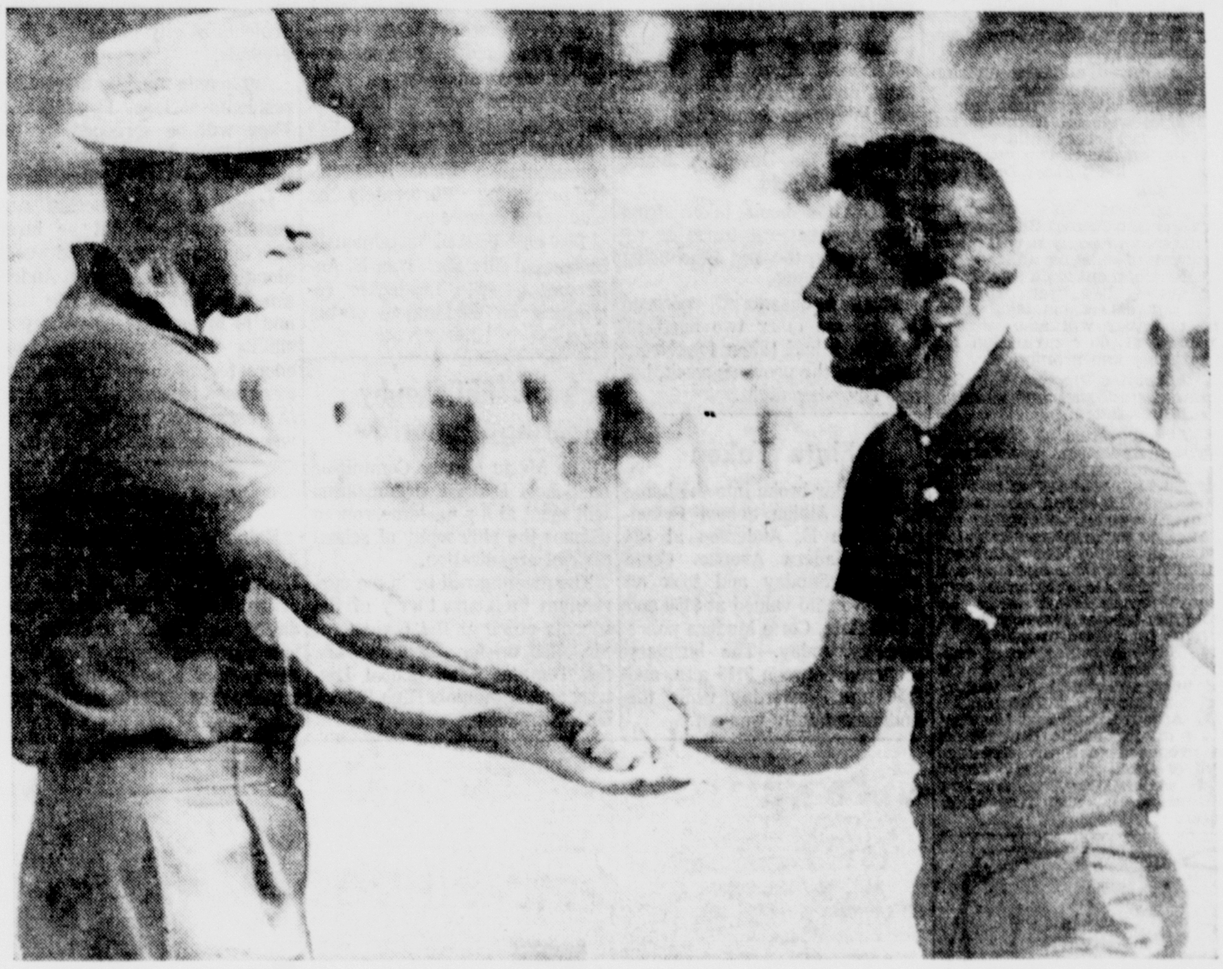

"This will not be the case," said Schul, "and I, for one, can't blame them.

"They have been told that they might lose their scholarships, or even worse, could jeopardize their schools as far as participation is concerned against all other NCAA schools, in all sports," said Schul.

But, said Lindgren, "if there is a large group of us who rebel, the NCAA can't kick us all out; that would ruin the colleges' track programs."

Washington State University coach Jack Mooberry, however, discounted the idea, saying "Gerry is the only one who can be hurt by running—no other NCAA athlete who has a chance to make the national team is going to enter the AAU meet."

Lindgren said that if no other athletes join him, he would probably not run in order not to bring punishment on Washington State.

TWO PROPER BRITISH GENTLEMEN AT U.S. OPEN

Mat Palacio Faces Elimination In State Amateur; Unknown Tops

PEBBLE BEACH (UPI) — An unknown named Cesar Sanudo, who got into the tournament on a pass, led the way into the final round of qualifying for the California State Amateur golf championship.

Sanudo, 21 and a sophomore at Grossmont Junior College at El Cajon, filed his entry too late. But because of last-minute cancellations, he was invited to join the field of 380 top-flight golfers.

Sanudo played only one practice round at tough Pebble Beach before he teed it up in the tournament. But he turned out to be the only man in the field to break par in the first round.

He fired a 71 with four birdies and three bogies—and that was good enough to edge a field that includes eight former champions and some of the state's best young fairway talent.

The 64 low scorers in the 36-hole medal play test qualify for the head-to-head match play rounds starting tomorrow.

But unless they get a move on today, such illustrious former champions at Mat Palacio Jr., 1936, of San Rafael, Ed Monaghan 1940, Ernie Pieper Jr. 1941-44, Bruce McCormick 1945-46 and Dr. Paul Travis 1963 won't make it.

Palacio had 83 in his opening round, Monaghan soared to 86, Pieper came home with an 81, McCormick and Travis each shot 80 and another former champ, Eli Bariteau Jr., posted a 78.

But two former champions were very much in the running.

Verne Callison of Sacramento, who won this event in 1959, cozied it around in 73 yesterday and John Richardson of Long Beach, the 1961 king, matched that score.

In addition to Callison and Richardson, the 73 bracket included young Bob Boldt of Lake Oswebo, Ore.; Charles Van Linge of Portola Valley, big Mel Hutchins of Sacramento, a one-time pro basketball player, and Bill Feil of Los Angeles.

The young stars in the field, rated as title threats before the competition started, must produce in today's second round in order to qualify for the championship's match play test.

Victor Loustalot of Sacramento, who qualified for the U. S. Open last week, scored a creditable 75 but Guy Bill, runner-up last year to Steve Opperman who now is a professional, shot 77.

Cole Still Unbeaten In Pro Ball

Ron Cole of Mill Valley turned in the best performance among Marin ballplayers in Organized Baseball last week, according to Player Periscope. He pitched four innings for Houston's Durham, N.C., team in the Carolina League, gave up one hit and a walk and struck out five. His record remained 3-0.

Pitcher Steve Miller of San Anselmo saw no action with the Houston team at Cocoa Beach, Fla., but Gerry Ard, shortstop from Fairfax with the same team, went to bat six times last week and got one hit. He is now 3 for 24 (.125).

John Boccabella of San Anselmo was stalled in his drive toward .300. He went 5 for 25 last week to fall 9 points to .267. One home run and 6 RBI raised his totals in those departments to 10 and 43.

Gino Cimoli of Tiburon was 2 for 5 with Spokane and added 10 points to his .229 batting average.

Redskins Ink Pitt Star Fred Mazurak

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Redskins won a bidding contest with the Minnesota Twins today when Fred Mazurek of the University of Pittsburgh decided to play professional football instead of baseball.

Mazurek, 5-foot-11, 192-pound quarterback, was signed by the National Football League team as a free agent for an unannounced bonus. The Redskins would say only that he signed for "considerably more than is normally given a free agent."

With Washington, Mazurek will be used as a flanker back and defensive back.

Voted the most valuable player on the Pitt baseball team the past season, Mazurek hit .460 this spring as an outfielder. He was drafted by Minnesota in the recent free agent draft conducted by organized baseball.

Most NFL teams passed up Mazurek, who normally would have gone in an early round, in the draft last fall because it was thought he planned to play baseball, and also because of announced plans to enter medical school.

Mazurek says now he plans to attend law school and selected football because the season is shorter than baseball and he will have more time to go to school. He plans to attend law school at either American or George Washington University here starting next January.

Salmon Catch Rich Southeast Of Farallones Over Weekend

STEVENS

If at first you don't succeed (and if your name happens to be Lou Germaine, and you are the daddy of the famous Audrey Payne) you try and try again.

So here are beaucoup congratulations to Daddy Lou for the very successful salmon trip he had on Saturday while fishing from the good ship Phil Ray. Lou took a sweet limit of kings with the top fish weighing in at 28 pounds. Congratulations also to the Payne family who are feasting on salmon as this is being written.

As you may deduct, salmon trolling outside was quite good on Saturday, had been better on Friday and was still better on Sunday.

APPARENTLY THE schools of fish that were infesting the Pedro Point sector have shifted their locale. Best fishing seems to have been east-southeast of the Farallons. Genial Tony Caruso of Caruso's place in Sausalito reports the top boat from his harbor was the Marion, which unloaded 25 salmon to 16 pounds on Saturday. The boats Silver Spray and the Salmon Queen each netted 17 salmon to 25 pounds.

LEE ANDERSON'S shop in Oakland reported the boat Lancer taking six limits to 26 pounds on Friday, and the Chinook with 23 fish to 13 pounds. On Saturday the Sea Horse accounted for 13 salmon to 28 pounds and the Hazel 8 with six rods working had 10 salmon to 13 pounds. Tony Caruso reported the rock-fishing boat limiting with assorted rockfish and a number of lings.

Tony also mentioned that striped bass were still around the Golden Gate Bridge. The south tower yielded some nice bass to 25 pounds in weight.

AN UNVERIFIED report came in of fair striper fishing at the north tower. Another rumor which appears to be true is that some fast and fancy plug casting has been had back of the old Ford plant.

A FEW FISH, most barely legal, have been taken in the Alameda Estuary, and there is some slight indication that the bass are moving upstream, but certainly nothing exciting. China Camp reported a few sturgeon, and fewer bass on both Saturday and Sunday. "The wind is keeping most of our regular customers at home. Sunday started out to be a fine day, but at 8 a.m. the wind again took over. The water is muddy and the wind is blowing right now!" I was told.

Up the San Pablo Bay Johnny Sivera, skippering the boat Happy Days out of Crockett, is still bringing in the sturgeon for his clients. Caught six of them to around 45 pounds on Thursday, and on Friday, Johnny unloaded a sturgeon weighing 66 pounds and one that went to 77 pounds.

AS WE are in the midst of a series of minus tides, and they will continue until the Fourth of July, I can't be very optimistic over your chances of bait fishing for bass in the San Pablo Bay. Sturgeon fishing, yes, but not striped bass. In fact, chances are that there will be meager pickings in the San Pablo Bay until August. If history repeats itself, however, not only sturgeon will be catchable, but we are almost due for the seasonal runs of flounders. Mind you—I am speaking of bait fishing, not necessarily late evening trolling. It is possible it will start perking in spite of the minus tides.

"I feel I can now cut down my travel and spend more time with my family," he said. "I love golf very much, but I love my children more.

"Now I can pick what I want to do. I don't have to be rushing off to Australia, rushing off to Spain, rushing off to Mexico. I can hunt and fish and ride and be with my family.

"I can pace myself, choose my tourneys as Hogan used to do.

"I wanted desperately to win this one. I wanted it more than anything else in my life. I've worked hard for it, too. I'm 29 years old, and I've traveled more than a million miles.

"This was the most wonderful day of my life. But now I want to be with my family."

Lester-Moyer Rematch Set

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Matchmaker Mario Spampinato has signed middleweights Denny Moyer of Portland, and Jimmy Lester of San Francisco to meet in a 10-round rematch at Kezar Pavilion, July 9.

Lester, like Hernandez, is unbeaten in 16 professional fights. Twelve of his victories were by knockout. He beat Moyer in a split decision April 20.

Streak Is Ended

The Sohner Tree Service softball team came back from Santa Rosa last night without its winning streak, which Good Spot of Santa Rosa had halted at seven games with a 6-3 win. Maury Swarm was the losing pitcher.

Sohner is now 15-4 this season.

Third Street Extension Contract Of $289,688 Awarded By Council

Only two bids were received last night on the westerly extension of Third Street in San Rafael to connect with the Miracle Mile, but fortunately one of them came well below the engineer's estimate.

The contract went to Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael at $289,668. Only other bidder was E. A. Forde Co. of San Anselmo at $377,253. City Engineer Ely Caillouette's estimate was $313,000.

The city also awarded contracts for purchase of road materials for next fiscal year to Hutchinson Co., Basalt Rock Co., Cambros Sand and Gravel Co. and Shamrock Materials Co. Unlike in some past years, there were no identical bids except on standby time for loading.

One hundred and twenty acres of San Rafael Cayes was zoned planned community by the council, which accepted a plan presented by engineer Daniel P. Coleman for developer Luther H. Lincoln.

The plan, similar to the original master plan for the whole San Rafael Cayes development, calls for apartment buildings around a 25-acre central lagoon, with 1,577 units for total density of 13.1 family units per acre.

Twenty-one acres had previously been rezoned. The rezoning approved last night applies to all the land already behind a levee. The state ban on bay fill will prevent, at least temporarily, development of 30 acres beyond the leve which was included in Lincoln's original proposal.

All votes at the council meeting were unanimous by the four members present. Councilman Charles W. Aby was absent.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

1. Over-rode the planning commission to grant architectural approval for canopies on the Shell Oil Co. station on city property at Second Street and Lincoln Avenue.
2. Continued to July 6 public hearing on the new uniform plumbing code.
3. Heard a plea by James Hambrick to lower the 21-year age minimum on persons entering billiard parlors. Hambrick proposes to lease the Van-Doyle Appliances building on C Street between Third and Fourth streets for what he described as a "family type billiard parlor." The council referred the request to the police chief for a recommendation.
4. Adopted an ordinance rezoning Porto Bello West as a planned community subdivision. Originally it was approved as a condominium, with only the air space subdivided.
5. Returned the proposed slope policy ordinance to the planning commission for addition of provisions governing development on existing substandard hillside streets. Councilman L. H. Bud Baar said this problem had brought up need for a slope policy in the first place, but was not covered in the proposed ordinance.
6. Approved a State Division of Highways proposal to relocate the pedestrian overpass which will span widened Highway 101 for Coleman School children. The new design moves it a little farther from the Rafael Drive intersection.
7. Approved an agreement with the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce whereby it will make a survey of existing and needed city development for a $4,000 fee. The survey had been proposed at a budget session last week. The chamber will also receive its usual $1,000 contribution for advertising and promotion.
8. Appointed Vincent W. Pallavicini as probationary fireman at $525 per month.
9. At suggestion of City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen, reactivated the underground utilities committee which was set up in February but has never met to try to thresh out an acceptable ordinance on underground lines for new subdivisions. Mayor C. Paul Bettini named Councilman Baar as chairman, to select his own committeemen. Baar said he would like former Mayor John F. McInnis to be one of them.
10. Put over a session on salaries for next fiscal year, which had been scheduled for tomorrow, until July 1 at 7:30 p.m.
11. Adjourned to next Monday at 8 p.m. for public hearing on the proposed plan for development of Quail Hill in the Terra Linda annexation. The meeting will be in the city recreation center.

Drama Award To Drake High Grad

Gregory Norgaard of 25 Tarry Road, San Anselmo, has received the Ross Valley Players first memorial award for his achievements in dramatic arts.

He was graduated last Friday from Sir Francis Drake High School where he was president of the Drake drama workshop. He took part in more than 15 productions, acting, directing, writing or singing.

Leydecker Due Council Protest

County Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker is due to receive a sharp protest from the City of San Rafael for his vote against extending the county's share of the senior recreation program.

City Councilman Fred Jensen last night called attention to an Independent-Journal story relating that Leydecker, alone among the supervisors, had voted against a $2,500 appropriation for the program in the fiscal 1966 budget.

The senior program in San Rafael was set up jointly by city and county, with costs shared.

Noting that "Mr. Leydecker represents half of San Rafael," Jensen declared: "Our representative voted against our senior citizens' interests . . . We might expect some of the other supervisors to vote against this program, but to find our own representative against it is really something. Fortunately he was voted down 4-to-1."

The city council unanimously instructed City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen to write Leydecker requesting an explanation of his vote.

Theft Of Food Being Probed

San Rafael police Friday questioned three San Rafael boys and today were seeking two others in connection with burglaries of a refreshment stand on the Davidson Junior High School field.

Food has been taken from the stand several times in recent weeks, the last time being Thursday night.

The boys questioned, one aged 13 and the other two aged 15, said they had taken food from the stand the previous week, but not Thursday night.

Flute Taken

A burglar broke into the home of Nova Albion School Principal Keith E. Anderson at 524 Corte Madera Avenue, Corte Madera, Sunday and took an AM-FM radio valued at $150 and a $100 flute, Corte Madera police reported today. The burglary occurred between 9:15 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. yesterday while the Anderson family was out.

Schools Philosophy Meeting Tomorrow

The Marin County Committee on School District Organization will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow to discuss the philosophy of school district organization.

The meeting will be in the curriculum laboratory of the schools office at the Civic Center. Also up for discussion are the Tomales High School District and Tamalpais High School District studies.

Youth Work Program Set

A $3,000 summer youth work program was approved last night by the San Rafael City Council.

Recreation Director Joseph D. Rodota had proposed a larger program, to cost $6,800. City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen called that "an over-ambitious program" and suggested a $3,000 limit. The council went along with the city manager.

The program, to provide summer employment for youth, will include cleanup and construction projects at city parks and playgrounds.

Applicants must be San Rafael residents at least 16 years old. They will be screened by the State Department of Employment. Pay will be $1.50 per hour.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini suggested youths might be hired also to clean up grass and weeds along city rights of way. Andersen was told to look into this, and to investigate also the possibility of using county jail prisoners for such work. Prisoners were used for street-side cleanup in years past, but the practice was stopped in recent years.

Windows Broken

Ralph W. Conner of 1108 Grand Avenue, San Rafael, foreman for Clarence E. Minnerly and Co. of San Rafael, told police Sunuday that vandals had broken four pieces of glass on louvered windows of a home under construction at 232 Riviera Drive, San Rafael.

San Rafael Seeks End Of Taxes Duplication

San Rafael last night joined other cities claiming exemption from county taxation for fighting structural fires, and went a bit farther.

The city council unanimously adopted a resolution asking exemption of property within the city from that portion of the county fire tax which applies to structural fires. This is estimated to save San Rafael taxpayers seven-tenths of a cent on the county tax rate.

The council then instructed City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen to also write the board of supervisors urging that it consider eliminating city taxpayers from county levies for other services the county performs only in unincorporated areas. These include planning, sheriff's patrol, street sweeping and possibly others. Andersen was given carte blanche to extend the list to cover any duplicate taxes he can find.

"This duplicate taxation is something we have been hollering about for eight years," said Councilman Fred Jensen. "I'm glad to see the county is beginning to become aware of it."

Collision Hurts Hand Of San Rafael Woman

Esther B. Sheridan, 30, of 79 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, suffered a bruised right hand in a two-car collision at 5:30 p.m. Sunday at Grant Avenue and Highway 101 in Novato. She was treated at Novato General Hospital.

'Smuggler', 'Cold Shoulder' Are Intriguing Fall Designs

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Fashion offers a study of contrasts for fall and winter.

Consider. There are the bundled-up look and the naked look. There are the extremely short skirts, some of them four inches above the knee, and the more conservative skirts half covering or entirely covering the knees. There are the slim skirts balanced with a rival of flared shapes and modified dirndls, or gathered, shapes.

THESE WERE SOME of the major trends along Seventh Avenue, heart of New York's garment industry, as the manufacturers rounded out three hectic weeks of showing their new collections to the nation's store buyers and press. An estimated 5,000 buyers swarmed into the garment center to order ready to wear merchandise.

A few "name" designers were yet to put their wares on display. Norman Norell of New York and James Galanos of Los Angeles, considered among the most influential designers in the United States, have not set opening dates.

DESIGNER JACQUES TIFFEAU is an exponent of both the muffled at the throat look and of the abbreviated skirt. His collection for Monte Sano & Pruzen included a passel of "smuggler" necklines on coats, suits, dresses and blouses which stood up around the neck almost to the tip of the nose.

Max Pruzan of the firm called them "chin chin" collars. Typical: A coat in dull gray and taupe plaid, double-breasted and cut on slim lines. The tiffeau skirts skimmed two and three inches above the knees.

So did those of a California designer who started the topless bathing suit and the no-bra bra. Rudi Gernreich, who brings his collections to New York for previews, did a lot of the muffled throat look too.

One of the collections baring a lot of skin belonged to designer-manufacturer Luis Estevez. For late day clothes, he used deep horseshoe-shaped necklines, numbers of strapless dresses, bolero tops that just barely covered the bosom, then had slits below.

THERE WAS THE one-shoulder dress, which promises to be the "ford" (best seller) of the coming season.

Almost every Seventh Avenue manufacturer made the "cold shoulder" style for fall. They included Estevez, Mollie Parnis, Oleg Cassini, Gothe, Pattullo-Jo Copeland, Christian Dior-New York, Adele Simpson, Larry Aldrich, Ferinando Sarmi and Malcolm Starr.

JUST WHO ORIGINATED the one-shoulder evening fashion is debatable. Paris's Balenciaga included it in his collection last season. Mrs. John F. Kennedy wore it for a party at the United Nations. Several women showed up in a pale green chiffon version at one Washington party given by French Ambassador and Mrs. Herve Alphand.

This pale green came from Starr's spring collection. He said there would probably be duplication around the country because in green and other pastels "we've sold that design by the thousands."

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Opera In Local Settings Is Highlight Of European Trip

By MOLLY MARIN

Hearing opera in the picturesque little opera houses of Europe and other concerts was the highlight of the trip abroad from which the Martin Goldschmidts have just returned to Homestead Valley. Both are devotees of fine music, and Mrs. Goldschmidt manages the increasingly well known Candlelight Chamber Music Concerts in Mill Valley and the summer Mozart Festival in Stole Grove, Homestead Valley.

The Goldschmidts attended operas in Rome, Florence, Venice, Milan and London.

"The opera house of the San Carlo Opera in Naples, where we heard 'La Boheme,' was like a little jewel box," Mrs. Goldschmidt said. She said even the ushers were in costumes and wigs—it was like a fairy tale, and the atmosphere was so perfect that everyone was in tears after the death of Mimi.

"There was the same feeling at the elaborate Phoenix Opera House in Venice, and the La Pergola Opera House in Florence was like a bower of roses."

ANOTHER MUSIC highlight for the Goldschmidts was attending a concert in the famed Mann Concert Hall in Tel Aviv. It seats almost 3,000, and concerts are so popular that each program has to be given six times, she said.

On a steamer going from Rome to Haifa in Israel they had the experience of talking with some of the 300 immigrants going there from Rumania.

Other points they visited on their trip, which they started by flying from New York to Rome the middle of April, were Jerusalem, Elat on the Red Sea, Greece—where they took a tour of the Aegean Islands, Switzerland and England. In London they saw "Otello" at Covent Garden.

On their return trip via New York they stopped at East Lansing, Mich., to visit their son and his wife and children. He is Prof. Carl Goldschmidt, a specialist in city planning at Michigan State University.

A FORMAL TEA will be given tomorrow in San Francisco for Marin debutante Robyn Relfe, with her aunt, Mrs. John Dowling Relfe, as the hostess at her Green Street home. Some 200 guests have been invited to greet the deb who will receive with her aunt and her mother, Mrs. Arthur W. Relfe of Kent Woodlands. Robyn's sister, Vicki, who attends University of the Pacific, and Susan Plant and Anita Skewes-Cox, will assist.

Friends who will pour tea include Mesdames J. Harold Dollar Jr. and Clinton Jones from Marin; Ross Bewley and John Hazard of Stockton, and Victor Caglieri, Robert Fritz, Allen LeFevre and David Plant of San Francisco. Guests at the tea, for which a pink motif will be carried out both inside and in the gardens, will include the other Marin Ball debutantes and the San Francisco debutantes and their mothers, as well as guests from throughout the Bay Area.

FOUR COUPLES who have been on the committee of the Marin Debutante Ball were among the guests for the first San Francisco Debutante Ball (not to be confused with the Cotillion held in December) given Friday evening at the Sheraton-Palace Hotel. In the Marin contingent were the Wallace Scotts of Belvedere and the Fred Herringtons, Russell Smiths and John Manwarings, all of Ross.

Directors Of Children's Art Museum To Be Honored

Mrs. E. J. Mahoney Jr., member of the Marin Museum Board of Directors, will honor the directors of the association-sponsored summer children's art museum program, Miss Susan Rannells and Mrs. Martha Stutsman, at her home in Ross on Thursday.

Mrs. Mahoney, who has been active in the recruiting of student members to the association, is interested in the experimental Children's Art Museum program which will be launched July 6, in the classrooms of Trinity Lutheran Church in San Rafael.

The summer program will consist of an art gallery and creative arts studio especially designed for children. The gallery will present original works of art selected to interest children, and the studio sessions will give them an opportunity to explore their own ideas in the visual arts with assistance. The gallery, at 333 Woodland Ave., San Rafael, will be open to children Tuesday through Saturday. The studio will charge a fee to cover the cost of materials and the program will be limited to certain age groups and class sizes.

The program will be conducted by Miss Rannells, M.A., University of California, formerly with the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York, but now a San Rafael resident, and Mrs. Martha Stutsman, M.A., San Francisco State College, who is a secondary school teacher in the Vallejo Public Schools. Application forms may be obtained by writing P.O. Box 4387, Civic Center, San Rafael.

Lord Snowdon Backs 'Mod' Type Styles

BY MARGARET SAVILLE

LORD SNOWDON

Before his marriage five years ago he was noted for his careless and haphazard attire.

Now, back at his old job as a photographer for the Sunday Times, he has turned to the bright, new-style "Mod" clothes which many young British designers are making.

Snowdon, 35, buys some of them in the colorful Carnaby Street area of cosmopolitan Soho in London, the "Mod" center crammed with "men's boutiques." Other clients there are pop stars like the Beatles, young actors, television stars and artists.

Snowdon already has set a fashion for shorter sleeves on jackets—they leave his hands free to use his camera. He was also one of the first to dispense with cuffs on trousers.

He has enthusiastically adopted the shot overcoat idea. He was seen in Scotland recently wearing one in dark blue wool, square-cut, boxy and double-breasted with black buttons.

For town wear the black suede shortie usually goes with a pair of slightly striped pants or even checked tweed ones.

A new hat worn by Snowdon has attracted a lot of attention. It is a replica of a Russian peasant's peaked hat, a style introduced by Russian-born ballet dancer Rudolf Nureyev of the Royal Ballet in London. Nureyev is a friend of Snowdon and Margaret.

The Beatles wear a similar style in a movie, currently in the making.

Snowdon also has inspected the two latest Carnaby Street notions—the wide necktie with a large floral pattern and the summer shirt with turn-down collar and short sleeves in cotton gingham, pink or blue checked with white.

None of his friends would be surprised if he is seen wearing one of the shirts at Windsor Lodge, the Queen Mother's country home, where he and Margaret spend many weekends.

Marin Women

Club Extends Clay Modeling Classes

The class in clay modeling conducted at the Sausalito Woman's Club by Mrs. Mervyn Cowen will be extended into the summer. Mrs. Cowen will open the season with members who are continuing and those desiring to join the class for the first time with a day of hospitality in her new home on the Belvedere Lagoon, 28 Windward Rd.

The class will meet at the clubhouse on Thursday at 11:30 a.m. to pool cars for transportation to Belvedere.

Needs Light

Since a person in his sixties needs much more light than a youngster, families with old folks should think about making sure that halls and stairways are brightly illuminated.

Genetic Counsel Service A First

Two years ago, Dr. Elizabeth Jolly started the Contra Costa County Health Department's genetic counseling service, the only such service in the nation.

It has met with such success that she is seeking a federal grant to enlarge the program. The service advises parents of the genetic chances of having a child with a birth defect.

The physician said it is well known that many diseases are entirely hereditary, and that there is an inherited tendency toward others.

Dr. Jolly has said the country does not tell a person whether to have a baby. She also emphasized that conscientious doctors constantly advise their patients regarding genetics.

But the problem of hereditary disease is growing more and more complex as knowledge of genetics deepens and a specialist is often required to judge adequately the chances, she said.

Heart Attack Risk Lower Through Diet

An eight-point program of dietary control was recommended to the American people by the American Heart Assn. as a possible means of lowering the risk of heart attacks.

1. Eat less animal (saturated) fat;
2. Substitute vegetable oils and other polyunsaturated fats for animal fats wherever possible;

3. Eat less food rich in cholesterol;
4. If overweight, reduce caloric intake;

OTHER RECOMMENDATIONS emphasized that it is important to:

1. Apply these dietary principles early in life;
2. Make sound food habits "a family affair";
3. Seek professional advice if needed to avoid nutritional deficiencies when changing the diet;
4. Adhere consistently to the altered dietary patterns.

It was previously believed that adjustment of the body's manufacture of cholesterol made dietary cholesterol a negligible factor in raising blood levels. Now there is evidence that man, unlike certain other animals, does not decrease the amount of cholesterol made in the body to allow for the amount eaten.

STUDIES OF POPULATION groups in the United States and elsewhere have shown a relationship between the level of cholesterol and other fats in the blood and the incidence of coronary heart disease. Populations with low blood fat levels have a lower incidence of coronary heart disease than populations with higher levels.

The eight-page report of the Heart Assn. also notes that other factors, such as cigarette smoking and lack of exercise may increase the risk of heart attack. "As in the case of diet, these factors may be corrected or controlled by programs based upon advice from the family physician."

Nutrition consultation and weight control classes are also offered by the Marin County Heart Assn. as part of its community service program.

Mrs. Robert Kreps Awarded Sweet Adelines Unit Trophy

Mrs. Robert Kreps of Tiburon was selected to receive the Sweet Adeline of the Year trophy; the highest honor to be given a member of the Marin chorus.

The trophy is presented once a year to the member who contributed the most to the betterment of the organization and who is considered to be the outstanding Sweet Adeline of the year.

MRS. ROBERT KREPS

Kathy Kreps served as president of the Marin Chapter in 1963 through April of 1964. She also headed the ways and means committee which was responsible for raising the money to fly the chorus to Salt Lake City this year for their regional chorus competition. This year she is serving as parliamentarian. Most remarkable is the fact that she had been a Sweet Adeline less than 3 years when she was recognized as a competent leader and selected as president.

Six years ago she, her husband, Robert, and two sons Jeff and Denise, arrived in Marin from Bakersfield. Prior to that they lived in Sacramento and San Luis Obispo. Mrs. Kreps and her husband are most active with the Little League baseball group and assisting in the scouting program in the Tiburon area. Summers find the Kreps' on fishing and camping expeditions that go on horseback into the more primitive areas.

Journal Reports Mothers Working

NEW YORK (UPI) — How many mothers of children under age 18 go to work? The "American Journal of Nursing" says 9.5 million. That includes 3.5 million mothers with children younger than six years old.

What happens to the children when mother works? Group care, according to the report, is the best solution. But facilities for such can accomodate only about five per cent of the children under six whose mothers work.

Spray Screens

Flies have a strong urge to get out of the rain, and often cluster on screens when the weather is turning bad, eager to get inside if given a chance. Spraying the mesh of screen doors with a long-lasting residual insecticide will doom most of them quickly, and any that get inside after such contact die shortly.

Poverty Program Bypasses 'Dick And Jane' Readers

An author of learning-to-read books says Dick and Jane, the perennial characters of elementary readers, "cannot hold the interest" of adults learning to read through the war on poverty program.

"Even though some of their skills parallel that of an elementary school child, we feel that it is seriously damaging to the dignity of an adult to be exposed forcibly to elementary materials," John Hurst said.

"WE ALSO FEEL that these people should not be returned to situations similar to that in which they have already failed," Hurst said.

Hurst, director of curriculum development of Skill Centers Inc., producers of visual materials to teach reading and writing to adults, has written a four-book series titled "And Hereby Hangs the Tale."

"THE BOOKS ARE remedial in that they help us to repair or rebuild unused reading skills from a current level to where a person should be to function successfully in today's job market," Hurst said.

"They are developmental in that they satisfy the need for enrichment and help the individual mentally stretch beyond his current reading ability and aspirations."

Vote Counting Machines Should Be Given Chance

There was such confusion in Sacramento that we can't be sure.

But from all indications, a bill that would have barred counties from using vote-counting machines in the future has died in committee.

That was the fate that SB 1012 deserved. The bill, by Sen. George Miller Jr., D-Martinez, apparently reflected the hurt feelings of some citizens in Contra Costa County, where a foulup occurred in the counting procedure during the last election.

But just because one county had a painful experience with new vote-counting machines, the entire state should not be forced to join in a blanket condemnation of all counting devices in the future.

Specifically, the bill would have prevented the counting of ballots in any location but at the precincts where the votes are cast. Obviously, this would have eliminated the counting of ballots by a central vote-counting machine.

It is true that the bill would not have affected existing vote counters that were purchased prior to July 1, 1965. But it would have frozen vote-counting to the crude methods now being used and would have prevented the future use of modern equipment to streamline vote tabulation.

Other legislators who opposed the bill pointed out that a mixup in one county does not justify the elimination of all vote-counting equipment statewide.

They explained that as the state's population grows, and the counting becomes more complicated, the trend should be toward increasing use of machine counting and away from the old hand-counting procedure.

Under the old manual system of counting, the cost averaged $1.12 per voter. Last November, when a mechanical counting system was tried on an experimental basis, the cost came to 62 cents per voter.

In both speed and cost, the vote-counting machine can have a decided advantage over the old manual system.

Marin County is also eyeing the possibility of converting to mechanical counting, if a suitable one can be agreed upon.

We are glad that legislators saw fit to kill a bill that would have imposed a statewide ban on all vote-counting machines just because one county happened to experience difficulty with its mechanical devices last November.

EPILEPSY NEED NOT BE A BAR TO JOBS

A new employment era for the nation's one and one-half million epileptics may be opening up, thanks to the cooperation of medicine and industry.

In 1949 Dr. Frank Risch undertook a three-stage program to help epileptic veterans find jobs. The stages were (1) the hospital phase; (2) the community workshop phase, and (3) the open market phase.

An eight-year test showed that 1,000 persons with epilepsy worked one million hours and that only 900 hours were lost due to their handicap.

"These people are so used to being rejected," said one man who employs 41 epileptics, "that when they are put in a position of equality their reaction to this acceptance is loyalty. We feel we have a better group of workers than would be expected from a group of normal workers."

Even though men may be hampered by disabilities of various kinds, God has endowed them with tremendous potential for good. Whatever you do for your fellow man in Christ's name you do also for Him.

"As long as you did it for one of these, the least of My brethren, you did it for Me."
(Matthew 25:40)

Strengthen my resolve, O Savior, to have confidence in others and help bring out the best in them.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Consumer Fraud Retaliation By Lynch's Office Working

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A comprehensive report by Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch on the state's 18-month battle against the aluminum siding frauds reveals success achieved in the adoption of a policy of massive retaliation toward consumer fraud.

Lynch, a former district attorney and, as such, aware of the methods used by con men to bilk the public, launched an over-all attack on this particular operation. He says the attack "should serve notice to con men who regularly flock to California that the state's district attorneys, sheriffs and police chiefs are ready to make it even tougher for them."

ALMOST EVERYONE is acquainted now with the aluminum siding frauds, in which various residences were "selected" for model homes to stimulate sales. The salesmen misrepresented their alleged connections with reputable national aluminum companies and the homeowner usually wound up with a trust deed of which he had no knowledge.

The extent of the frauds is almost unbelievable. Lynch's report says the "California consumer market is taken for more than $7 million annually by fraudulent and illegal sales programs." In Los Angeles alone during 1960, he said, some $3 million in siding was sold fraudulently.

The problems of combatting the frauds often spill over county lines and jurisdictions, and only by a properly coordinated state-wide approach in the instance of large-scale frauds can the people of the state successfully be protected, Lynch said.

THE WIDESPREAD activities of the frauds caused Lynch's office to analyze hundreds of aluminum siding sales, which developed some 260 leads to fraudulent sales in six counties. The probe subsequently spread to 12 counties of the state. They were Alameda, Contra Costa, Orange, Kern, Los Angeles, Sacramento, San Diego, San Francisco, San Mateo, Shasta, Tulare and Ventura.

Cases already have been filed in seven counties against nearly 100 salesmen, which has resulted in 32 convictions, with many more cases to come to trial.

THE REPORT SAID that more than 4,700 contracts, ranging from $2,500 to $6,000, were sold by the companies under investigation during the space of a year. Salesmen's commission on a single contract often reached as high as $1,000.

Fairfax Mother Faces Eviction

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In a few days I expect to be evicted from my home together with my five children; the baby, who is the sixth, is still in a foster home. I have absolutely no place to go. My husband has left the home after trying unsuccessfully to get work. He bought this house so my children could come home and made lots of improvements, then could not get a larger mortgage. I just need $2,500 to save my home. Is there no one in this state who can and would help?

I am receiving aid from the City and I can work in a short time. I was in a serious accident in February, hence the lay-off. I am a graduate nurse, and I would gladly nurse anyone who would help me for the rest of my life.

Please publish my letter, as I am really desperate.

TAKING A DETOUR?

Justices Of Supreme Court Wonder If They Are Right

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International

IT IS NOT necessary to be a rightist or to hate the chief justice to be among those who are wondering whether the U. S. Supreme Court is on the right path or has barged into a headstrong detour.

Members of the court themselves raise the question. Justices Hugo Black and Potter Stewart discussed it most recently on June 7 in sharp dissent from the court majority's interpretation of the Constitution. What the majority had done was to scrap an 1879 act of the Connecticut Legislature which forbade the use of contraceptives by anyone, including married couples.

ALL THE JUSTICES agreed on one thing: The Connecticut law was unwise, undesirable, probably unenforceable and otherwise unsuitable. The majority held, further, that the law was unconstitutional, being in violation of the right of privacy. But Black and Stewart denied the Constitution guaranteed any such right and challenged the majority to cite the language on which they based their action in striking down the Connecticut law.

What Stewart and Black argued in effect was that the court was striking down law on grounds of it being unwise, undesirable or unsuitable whereas the court's rightful authority is limited to the question of constitutionality.

THE WISDOM and desirability of law is a legislative matter to be dealt with by the Congress or a state legislature, argued Black and Stewart. If so, Chief Justice Earl Warren and his majority were poaching.

It would not be the first time. For some background, see the Feb. 23, 1965, issue of the magazine National Review in which Prof. Paul C. Bartholomew of the University of Notre Dame faculty puts together some comments about the court by the justices.

National Review splashed the Bartholomew story under this headline: "13 Bitter Attacks on the Supreme Court by Justices Black, Clark, Frankfurter, Harlan, Stewart, White and Whittaker." This headline did not overstate the case.

Paul Bartholomew chose his examples from dissents delivered formally from the bench from 1961 to 1964. In dissenting from the one-man-one-vote reapportionment ruling, Justice Felix Frankfurter accused the court of a massive repudiation of the experience of the nation's whole past. Frankfurter said the court had indulged in an assertion of destructively novel judicial power.

JUSTICE BLACK fired off a salvo of protest against a 1964 action in which a New York law relating to trial procedure was held invalid. Wrote Black:

"I think that the New York law here held invalid is in full accord with all of the guarantees of the federal Constitution and that it should not be held invalid by this court because of a belief that the court can improve on the Constitution."

The Supreme Court improve on the Constitution? Hmmmm! Not that Justice Black said it. The rightists didn't say it. Associate Justice John M. Harlan dissented from the reapportionment opinion with a warning that the court, equally with the other branches of government, is bound by the Constitution. He wrote:

"THE STABILITY of this institution (Supreme Court) ultimately depends not only in its being alert to keep other branches of government within constitutional bounds, but equally upon recognition of the limits of the court's own functions in the constitutional system."

In Bartholomew's article there is more, much more of the same. Only the court, of course, can discipline the court.

Reader Questions Who Is Underpaid

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In your June 14 column I read with interest Mrs. Earl W. Hart's letter concerning her objection to the printing of county and school district personnel salaries, and with particular interest the portion in which she said, "If your purpose is to show that teachers are miserably underpaid, your point is made."

Out of curiosity, I turned to page 28 of that issue and read with astonishment the salaries listed for the Tamalpais Union High School District. I would not wish to quarrel with Mrs. Hart's contention that the publication of individual names and salaries might or might not be in poor taste. But, "teachers are miserably underpaid"? Mrs. Hart, you MUST be putting us on.

JIM FOSBURGH, distinguished artist, encountered an old moonshiner in the Tennessee hills whose profile fascinated him. "I'll give you $25," proposed Fosburgh, "if you'll let me paint you." When the moonshiner hemmed and hawed, he added, "Remember: $25 is a lot of money." "There hain't no question 'bout the money," the moonshiner told him earnestly. "I was jist wonderin' how I'd git the paint off afterward."

THE MOTHER of a 15-year-old high school student, proud of the fact that she had snagged a Phi Beta key in her own junior year at college, continually pestered the boy because his marks in Latin were below par. It Is Time For Good, Stiff Look At U.S. Handling Of Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some senators and representatives will now knock their heads together over foreign aid. Out of this may come something more imaginative and practical than this country has seen in years.

Except for its part in World War I, and some spurts afterwards, this country stuck to its ancient isolationism until, for sheer survival, early in 1941 it began helping the foes of fascism with lend-lease.

THIS TRULY got it involved in World War II and before the year was out the United States was all the way in.

President Harry Truman ended lend-lease right after the war but this was a mistake. It deprived Europe and Asia of much-needed help when nations there were flat on their backs.

The United States extended various kinds of help but in 1948 set forth on a worldwide program of help. Altogether since the war this country has handed out over $100 billion in foreign economic and military aid.

UNDOUBTEDLY this blood transfusion, plus American military might, stopped the march of communism to which chaos and poverty are a "come on in" sign. But as the years passed there was growing American discontent about this aid.

Starting there more than 15 years ago, when the French were fighting the Vietnamese Communists, this country has put about $5 billion in economic and military aid into the country. And the result isn't pretty.

The guerrillas and Communists there are stronger than ever.

OUT OF ALL this foreign aid, unmatched in the history of the world, the United States threw off its isolation and at once became the leader of the non-Communist part of the earth.

But—the United States is a newcomer on the international scene with perhaps no more than 25 years of experience in deep involvement with countries everywhere.

In short, it still has a lot to learn when compared with the British and French who were up to their international necks for centuries.

SO, BECAUSE it is just a beginner with no more than a quarter of a century in distributing aid, it would seem time for a good, stiff look on how it has been doing and where it is going in this field.

The Senate thinks so. When it passed the foreign aid authorization bill it proposed ending the program in its present form in two years, with a 16-member special commission created to investigate the program and make recommendations on future aid.

This is a combination of self-examination and inventory. But the House, which passed its own version of the foreign aid bill earlier, didn't go for the soulsearching the Senate suggests.

Before that can happen the House will have to agree to the Senate idea. It may not. The two houses have some other differences which they must compromise before the foreign aid bill gets final approval.

ONE THING which seems necessary, even if the commission proposal is abandoned, is more certainty that U. S. aid will be spread among the people of backward countries to improve their lives and give them a reason for being non-Communist rather than the other way around.

If the United States had taken a lot tougher policy with its aid to Viet Nam—insisting long ago upon broad programs of help to the masses of Vietnamese villagers whose life expectancies are only half that of Americans — the Communists could not have made the progress in Viet Nam they did.

Sooner or later the foreign aid program is going to have to be re-examined. A number of senators feel that way, particularly the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, J. W. Fulbright, an Arkansas Democrat.

FOR INSTANCE, several months ago he said, "Where we have given the most aid, we have inspired the most antagonism." He named France as one example and Egypt as another.

Demos Feel Bite For Fund Dinner

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—The Democratic National Committee is turning on the heat as never before to pull in the $1 million set as the goal for the big fund-raising dinner in the capital Thursday night.

From the way this high-geared pressure drive apparently is going, its success seems pretty well assured.

NEIL CURRY, Los Angeles, dinner chairman as well as head of the executive committee of the potent American Trucking Assn., is saying privately that already more than $600,000 is in the till.

Leaders of the Senate and House Democratic campaign committees, for whom the big fund-raising affair is being staged, have been told by Curry that the goal of selling 10,000 tickets at $100 will definitely be reached by Thursday. If it isn't, it won't be for lack of arm-twisting and prodding.

Those running the dinner are not being squeamish about who is being importuned, nor how it's being done.

FOR EXAMPLE: Some 350 employees of the District of Columbia Area Redevelopment Agency were given lay-off notices due to the legal expiration of the organization June 30, end of the fiscal year. At the same time a number of them got mailed "invitations" to buy tickets for the $100 dinner.

As one official wryly remarked, "The inference is clear. Failure to fork over may mean no job in the new redevelopment program. No one is saying that, but I'm taking no chances. I need the $100, but I also need a job. I'm buying a ticket."

EVERY DEMOCRATIC senator (68) has been given a quota of 50 tickets—five tables at $5,000. The 295 Democratic House members have been allotted two tables—$2,000.

Members of the $1,000 "President's Club" (some 4,000) have been asked to take five or more tickets.

The same "request" has been made of representatives of hundreds of business, industry, trade, defense, labor, farm and other organizations with offices in Washington.

PUTTING THE BITE on them presents no problem to the Democratic National Committee. It has been doing that in a well organized manner for years.

A key adjunct is a carefully compiled alphabetical list of about 800 organizations and their Washington representatives. Known among Democratic insiders as the "master list," it is constantly revised and carefully kept up to date. Consisting of two sets of names —organizations and their representatives—the list is extensively used for fund-raising purposes.

President Lyndon B. Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey will be the main attractions at the Thursday night fund - raising dinner.

Wives Seem To Like Beards Better Than Men In Novato

DURING THE OPENING program of Novato's Western Weekend celebration Wednesday night in the community house, Paul Fry, master of ceremonies, was joking with the beard contestants.

He made a remark to the effect that he'd bet that the wives would be glad when the men shaved off the beards. His remark was met with several loud "Noes" from the women in the audience.

Taken back a little, he asked if the wives actually liked the beards. This was met with some very hearty applause from the women in the crowd.

In questioning some of the group of bearded employees from Safeway Store, he asked one man with a heavy beard what he would do Monday morning.

So it would seem from the responses that the women actually like the beards more than their husbands.

NOVATO'S WESTERN Weekend grows bigger and better each year. The Junior Chamber of Commerce men have taken note each year of things which needed improving and set about to make those changes for the next year.

There is no doubt that it is a success as far as a celebration goes, but it does present some questions and problems.

The first is, will it ever have a permanent home? The carnival and center of the celebration has been the Patterson Ranch for many years. It was a convenient spot to have the parade go up Grant Avenue and break up on the carnival grounds.

This year that was changed because the Patterson Ranch will soon become another shopping center.

Finding a home for it and other civic activities should be done by the city council. Vacant spaces where such an event can be held are getting fewer in the city. The Junior Chamber of Commerce may be hard put one of these days to find a suitable location unless the city steps in and acquires a park site which can be used.

ANOTHER PROBLEM in the future will be, how big should it get?

Not that it is too large now, but it is growing each year and some ultimate limit must be placed on it. Grant Avenue will be taxed to hold the crowds for the parade, if the crowd continues to grow and the number of entries increases.

With the civic and service clubs getting in on the profits of the celebration, how many attractions can be added? How big can it get before it should be incorporated and a full-time manager hired to put it on?

There is no question that it is a commercial boon to the merchants. Those dealing with Western attire sell out each year several days before the event starts. Merchants who deal in Western shirts and hats report that every year they sell out, regardless of how heavy they order. What happens to the hats and shirts from year to year, no one knows. The annual sales of such items keeps up.

OTHER MERCHANTS report that just bringing people into the community for the weekend makes a spurt in business. That probably accounts for the growing support by the merchants of the event each year.

The Novato Horsemen's Assn., too, is faced with growing pains in its rodeo. It is growing faster than the arena. Should the club go all out and build a big arena to accommodate the crowds and make it a really big rodeo?

IN ADVERTISING the city, the celebration also shows up its deficiencies. The city council should take a long, hard look at Grant Avenue. Much of it does not have sidewalks. This is not good advertising for a city which is hoping to attract outside business and industry.

As any event such as this, it does advertise the city. Does this advertising merit city and county support, the same as those bodies now give the Chamber of Commerce?

It has been handled by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Novato Horsemen for years, with the assistance in recent years of the other organizations. So far, it has been a paying proposition and should continue to be.

HOW LONG CAN IT continue to grow under its present management without outside help remains a question.

It Was Wrong To Shun Barry At Republican Meet In Ohio

THE RECORD SHOWS that a mortician who sits around waiting for one of our two great political parties to die may succumb to malnutrition. The Demos were a sickly crew who had won only two presidential races since Lincoln, but a family feud that erupted in 1912 gave Wilson 435 electoral votes to the GOP's 8, only Vermont and Utah saving the latter from being skunked.

It looked like a terminal case, but the patient recovered, and eight years later Harding rocked himself to victory on his front porch, 404 to 127. And in 1928 Hoover piled up a then all-time record of 472 to Al Smith's 59, and the last rites were ordered for the Demos.

But the depression gave FDR the 1932 contest and, by his second term, the GOP was back to two states again, Vermont and Maine. Now it seemed only a matter of time.

BUT AGAIN the flowers were wasted. The party made a comeback under Ike, who kayoed Adlai easily. The second time Adlai carried only seven sovereign states, among them the loyal, God-fearing and law-abiding electors of Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi and South Carolina.

In 1964 the pendulum swung again and Barry Goldwater won only six states, which included the shiftless, no-account, ignorant, prejudiced and illegally constituted electorate of Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi and South Carolina.

The treatment accorded these two losers, incidentally, is worth noting. Adlai was not denounced by Democratic leaders as one who had destroyed the party and who should be shunned henceforth. Rather, he was hailed as a gallant soldier, was welcomed at party functions and might very well have run on the winning platform of 1960 and, indeed, was eager to do so. And today, as one of the party's elder statesmen, he holds an important office with many enviable perquisites.

THE REPUBLICANS held a get-together in Ohio the other day and all the party bigwigs were present—all but Barry, that is. Someone had forgotten, obviously, to send him a bid. Or mislaid the envelope.

Barry isn't complaining, publicly at least. But I can testify that a lot of readers who gave their time and money to the 1964 standard-bearer think it was planned that way. And offer some corroborative evidence, too.

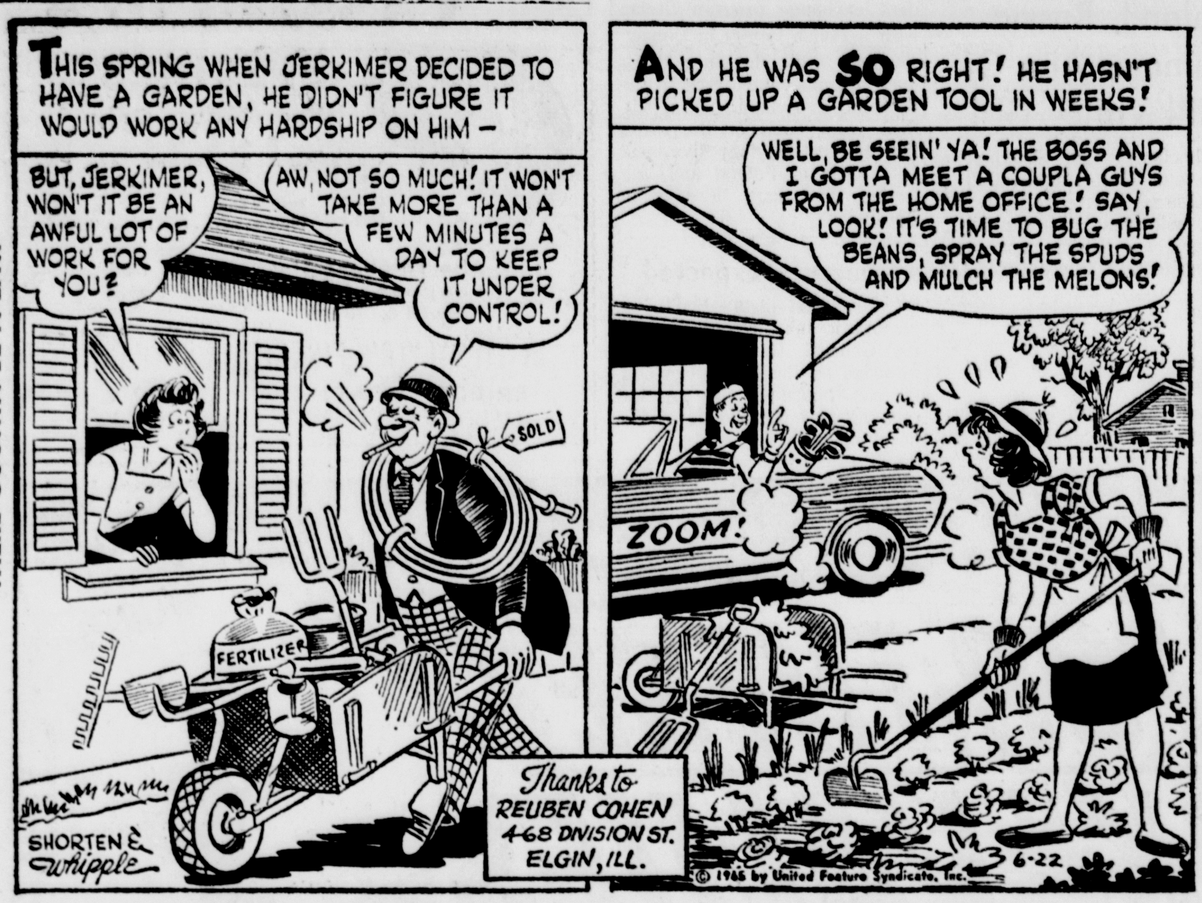

I have letters from several prominent Republican workers in the Midwest—I am pledged not to reveal their names—enclosing a poll taken by Lou Harris. According to said poll, the GOP must get away from all traces of Goldwaterism if it is to win: And the statistics indicate the party will gain far more than it loses if it does so.

NOW, HARRIS is safely in the liberal Democratic camp, and his predictions are hardly surprising. What is surprising is that this survey was apparently sent to a selected group under the aegis of the Republican National Committee. At any rate, the copy I have before me bears that imprint—and I find it hard to believe it a forgery.

If it is, I will have no compunction whatever about saying out loud who sent it to me. But if it's for real and shows the true aim of the committee, it would only be fair for Ray Bliss and his associates to announce it publicly to the 27 million who voted for Barry—and at the same time to return the money given them by Burch when he handed over the reins to them. That money was contributed by the largest group who had ever shelled out for a political campaign, in behalf of certain principles. If it is to be used against them, they demand its return.

American author Anne Morrow Lindberg was born on this day in 1907.

On this day in history:

In 1937, Joe Louis became the heavyweight boxing champion of the world after knocking out Jim Braddock in the eighth round at Comiskey Park in Chicago. He held the title until he retired in 1949.

In 1940, France fell to Germany.

In 1941, Germany invaded Russia.

In 1943, the nation's worst race riot in the years since 1918 was checked a federal troops patrolled the streets of Detroit. Thirty-four people died in the rioting.

A thought for the day—British biographer Lytton Strachey once said: "Perhaps of all the creations of man language is the most astonishing."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Undemanding Declarers Are Easily Satisfied

Hard as it is to believe, some bridge players are very undemanding.

If you offer them a dollar, they insist that all they want is 75 cents. We have a bridge hand to prove this curious statement.

Opening lead — ♣ K

Declarer takes the first trick, draws trumps and leads a diamond to try a finesse with dummy jack. The idea is to discard a heart later on the ace of diamonds. South will make the slam if West has the queen of diamonds.

TAKES QUEEN

East takes the queen of diamonds and returns a heart. Now South must try the heart finesse, but this also loses and he is down one.

South points out that he would make the slam if either finesse worked. Whenever you take two finesses you have a 75 per cent chance of succeeding in at least one of those finesses.

100 PER CENT

A greedy declarer would make the contract 100 per cent of the time by a different play.

Declarer should take the ace of clubs, ruff a club and draw trumps with the ace and queen. He ruffs another club, making sure that West has not led from something like K-x; West surely has led from a suit headed by both the king and queen.

South takes the top diamonds, ruffs his last diamond in dummy, and leads the jack of clubs from dummy, discarding the seven of hearts as he gives the trick to West.

FREE FINESSE

Now if West returns a heart, South gets a free finesse; and if West returns anything else, dummy ruffs and South discards the queen of hearts.

A sporting declarer takes two finesses and gives the opponents a fighting chance to defeat the slam. A greedy declarer takes no finesses, and makes the slam without giving the opponents a chance.

Are you a sport, or are you hungry?

DAILY QUESTION

You hold:

♠ 3
♥ J 10 9 5
♦ Q 9 4 2
♣ 9 5 3 2

What do you say?

Answer: Pass.

Do not respond when your hand counts to only three points. If your partner had opened with one heart you would raise to two hearts since then you would add three points for the singleton in the side suit.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Writer's Cramp Is Vanishing Disease But Still Incurable

VAN DELLEN

Writer's cramp is a vanishing disease. It was encountered frequently before the typewriter and when clerks labored monotonously for hours preparing volumes of meticulous script. The malady was called scrivener's cramp because it was an occupational disorder among public copyists.

The late Dr. Harry Lee Parker told of a 25-year-old auctioneer's clerk who had the job of writing long columns of items during an auction. He included the price bid and whether the article was paid for at the time of sale. After five years in this position, something happened to his right arm. The muscles of his hand and forearm became tight after writing for an hour.

THIS WAS FOLLOWED by painful spasms which forced him to hold his pen more firmly. Cramping caused the wrist to bend and the shoulder was pulled toward the forearm. His entire posture was crumpled into a knot of arm, forearm, and hand muscles. At this stage his handwriting was illegible; the pen usually shot violently from the hand.

He was given a month's rest and returned to work. He did well for three weeks and then the condition returned. According to Dr. Parker, he could use the fingers, hand, forearm, and arm for any activity except writing. He played the piano and violin, suffled cards, and used a typewriter at high speeds. Typing was not practical during an auction because bids changed rapidly and the figures were missed when he had to change the paper.

A SIMILAR CONDITION is noted among telegraphers, milkers, cigar makers, violinists, and barbers (Scissor's cramp). Spasm occurs only when finer movements of the hands are required. It is unusual today among bank clerks because machines are used to make up accounts.

Writer's cramp is said to be incurable once it has developed. The cause is not known. Neurologists explain it on the basis of nerve exhaustion, and psychiatrists on a submerged hatred for writing.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics by mail if stamped, self-addressed enveloped accompanies request.

FATTY TUMOR

Mrs. M. writes: I have a fatty tumor on my shoulder that does not bother me. Would surgical removal be serious?

REPLY

No, but why bother if it is not painful, tender, or detracting from your appearance? These rarely become malignant.

IT'S THE HUMIDITY

J. I. writes: Why does a high humidity make a person feel like not working?

REPLY

The exact cause is not known, except that when humidity and temperature are high, perspiration does not evaporate from the body's surface. The person thus is deprived of his number one cooling device.

SPRAINED ANKLE

I. T. writes: I sprained my ankle and it is taking a long time to heal. Is this the usual thing?

REPLY

Sprained ankles fail to heal when (1) treatment is inadequate; (2) the sprain really is a fracture; (3) the individual has had repeated sprains and the overstretched ligaments no longer are able to support the ankle.

MYOPIA

M.M.R. writes: What is meant by the term "second sight" in a 70-year-old man?

REPLY

Shortsightedness (myopia) often develops in the beginning of enile cataract. A person who needed glasses for reading at 40 finds he can read again without them. This is second sight brought on by the cataract.

AFRAID OF THUNDER

H. S. writes: Is there any way to overcome a horrible fear of thunder?

REPLY

A psychiatrist may be able to help but it is easier to admit the fear, learn all about thunder, and lightning and seek out the safest places during a storm.

THYROID LACK

A. L. writes: What is a cretin?

REPLY

A child who is born with an imperfectly developed thyroid gland. Unless thyroid extract is started early and continued throughout life, the youngster may be dwarfed and mentally retarded.

Oil Industry's Nationalization Splits Turkey

By SAM COHEN
Worldwide Press Service

ANKARA—There is a dangerout tendency in Turkey these days for every issue, domestic or foreign, to shape up into a controversy between left and right, with the leftists being labelled "Communists" and the rightists being labelled "American agents."

The issue currently dividing politically conscious Turks — whose number is rapidly increasing—is the "oil problem."

One side is advocating nationalization of oil in Turkey; the other side is strongly opposed to it. Pressures from both sides are being exerted on the four-party coalition government, which is a caretaker cabinet until next October's general elections.

Turkey is not an oil-rich country. At least not yet. The eastern regions are reputed to contain rich oil deposits, but they have not yet been fully explored. This is the basis of the dispute.

Under a law passed in 1956, during the Menderes regime, foreign companies were given concessions to search for and produce oil in Turkey. Foreign concerns were also allowed, under the same law, to establish refineries in this country and import crude oil for them.

Turkey consumes 4.5 million tons of oil annually. Last year 900,000 tons were produced locally, mainly by the Turkish Petroleum Co., of which the state owns 92 per cent of the shares. The rest of Turkey's oil needs are met by imports, through the major foreign companies, at a yearly cost of $50 million in hard currency.

The oil issue was first raised by some leftist writers last year during the Cyprus crisis, when it was alleged that American companies had refused to supply fuel for Turkish Air Force jets during their attacks against Cyprus.

But the matter did not boil up into a real issue until recently when a series of charges have been hurled about. One is that the foreign companies have deliberately refrained from full explorations for oil in Turkey because their findings would depress the world market where supply already outruns demand.

Another allegation is that foreign companies have been selling crude oil to Turkey at a price 35 per cent higher than in the so-called "free market"—by which is usually meant the price offered by the Soviet Union.

Finally, there are complaints that the foreign companies have been given too many privileges (termed "capitulations," by some Turks) which the Turkish Petroleum Co. does not enjoy.

While the current campaign was started by leftists, it has spread quickly throughout the country and has been joined by the Turkish Petroleum Co., workers' unions, various student organizations and many intellectuals. Now constituting a powerful pressure group, these elements are demanding the nationalization of Turkish oil.

The campaign is conducted in various ways, including writing on the streets such slogans as "Oil Should Be Nationalized." These inscriptions by students are often accompanied by anti-Western slogans such as "Turkey Will Never Become a Viet Nam or a Dominican Republic," "Death to Imperialism," etc.

Right-wing politicians and newspapers have taken a strong stand against this campaign, which they describe as "Communist-inspired." Suleyman Demirel, leader of the conservative Justice Party and now deputy premier, has been among the most outspoken.

He argues that a right given to foreign companies by law can not be withdrawn without seriously jeopardizing Turkey's efforts to attract foreign capital.

Auto Rolls Off Road, Two Suffer Scalp Cuts

Alan C. De Lone, 21, of 1051 Las Pavadas Avenue, San Rafael, suffered a cut scalp at 6:15 p.m. Sunday when the car he was driving east on Panoramic Highway went off the road on a curve, rolled over and landed upside down, three miles east of Stinson Beach, highway patrolmen reported.

A passenger, Stephen Tobin, 17, of 201 Cleveland Avenue, Mill Valley, also suffered a scalp cut. Both were treated at Marin General Hospital.

Industry Shying Away From Radiated Foods

BY WILIAM E. HOWARD

WASHINGTON—Will a housewife buy a dozen "fresh" oysters that she knows have been on a grocery store shelf for 20 days?

Will she feed her family off-color strawberries even if they taste okay? Or pick up a bag of oranges she knows have been exposed to 200,000 rads of radiation?

All three questions add up to one big $100 million-plus question: Is the government's ambitious research program to pioneer a new method of food preservation through atomic radiation headed for success or overripe failure?

Today, officials like Rep. Melvin Price, D-Ill. of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee are cheerfully predicting that irradiated food products will be offered in supermarkets in the "not too distant future." Commercial firms, they believe, soon will be marketing dozens of fish, fruit and vegetables preserved in this fashion.

But clouding this forecast of the atomic age grocery are two rather disconcerting facts:

1. Housewives have never been tested to see if they will accept such products.

2. No commercial food processors have taken the plunge into this new field, even though the technology has been proven at government expense.

Indeed, it now apears that if there is to be "commercialization" of radiation-preserved foods, the government will have to do the underwriting. The unwillingness of food companies to invest their money in the idea is currently prompting the atomic energy commission to ask Congress for funds to join in "cooperative" projects with industry.

Congress will probably go along—as it has for more than 10 years in supporting the research program. But its a strange business.

Irradiation has proven to be the only way to extend the "shelf life" of some fresh foods. But in many instances it appears in direct competition with canned or frozen products, offering little extra benefit.

And research so far has turned up only a relatively few items — 30 or so — that lend themselves to this type of preservation.

The preservation is actually a form of sterilization. Products are exposed to gamma rays from an isotope source, such as cobalt-60. Gamma rays are penetrating and lethal to bacteria and insects. However, they will not turn an object radioactive. So irradiated food is safe on that score.

But the radiation, which must be administered in large doses adversely effect the consistency and the flavor of some foods. Pears turn mealy, the color of ripe pineapples changes, green tomatoes go bad, and peaches become soft.

Strawberries lose their color and aroma but retain their taste. Oranges, figs, prunes, cherries, papayas, bananas and asparagus keep all their original properties and appear to be candidates for the process.

So do many forms of seafood, such as crab, shrimp, soft-shelled clams, oysters, cod, flounder, sole and ocean perch.

U.N. Faces Falling Prestige Problems

By MILTON BESSER

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., (AP)—On its 20th birthday the United Nations find its membership headed for a record high and its prestige at a new low.

But ups and downs are no new experience for the world organization, whose 51 founding members proudly proclaimed as its purpose the saving of succeeding generations from the scourge of war.

The pledged themselves solemnly also to live together in peace with one another as good neighbors.

Since the signing of the U. N. charter in San Francisco on June 26, 1945, another 63 nations have joined the organization and agreed to abide by the terms of the charter. With the excepted admission of Gambia in September the total membership will be 115.

Only one nation, Indonesia, has ever quit the United Nations.

As its 20th birthday approached Secretary General Thant warned that the United Nations is going downhill. It the trend is NOT reversed it may turn into a mere debating society, he said.

He was mindful of the paralysis which gripped the last session of the General Assembly due to inability to resolve the crisis over peacekeeping debts.

He was concerned also over the war in Viet Nam and the situation in the Dominican Republic. In the former the United Nations has been bypassed completely and in the latter it played only a subsidiary role.

Others have not taken so dim a view. They include U. S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, who has described the present difficulties of the United Nations as growing pains.

If 1964 and 1965 were marked by frustration over finances and bitter East-West debate, 1963 could be described as a good year. It was marked by the signing of the nuclear test ban treaty—a step long advocated by a majority of the U. N. membership.

But 1960 and 1961 were bad years. The United Nations was in deep trouble over the Congo and faced with the tragic death of Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold in a plane crash while on a mission to the Congo. The Soviet Union demanded a three-man executive—instead of a single secretary general—a move successfully opposed by the majority of the membership. Thant, a Burmese diplomat, was named to succeed Hammarskjold.

The dramatic growth in membership is due mainly to the emergence of new nations. Most are from Africa. Even so the United Nations does not represent all the nations of the world. Communist China is still on the outside, along with the divided nations: West and East Germany, North and South Korea, North and South Viet Nam.

The General Assembly is comparable to a parliament, but on a global scale. Each nation, no matter how large or small, is entitled to one vote. It takes a two-thirds vote to approve an assembly resolution.

The 11-nation Security Council is the main political organ of the United Nations and, under the charter, its most powerful arm. Under charter amendments headed for ratification, Security Council membership will be boosted soon to 15, and the Economic and Social Council from 18 to 27.

This will not affect the veto power in the Security Council of the five permanent members—the United States, Britain, France, Nationalist China and the Soviet Union.

With the expanded membership it will take nine votes to approve council action instead of seven at present. But a big power veto can kill any resolution. The Soviet Union is the champion veto caster—103 to date. The United States has never used the veto.

But the United Nations is much more than the General Assembly and the Security Council, which grab the bulk of the headlines because of the hot political issues they handle. The Economic and Social Council is the over-all supervisor of the U. N.'s economic and social programs. The Trusteeship Council, once important, has dwindled because of the emergence of so many trust territories to independence.

There is the network of U. N. specialized agencies, such as the World Health Organization and the Food and Agriculture Organization.

A newcomer is the U. N. Conference on Trade and Development, with its own secretariat and secretary general.

More Drugs Raise Fears Of Harm To Expectant Women And Babies

By CHARLES SCHAEFFER
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON—Pretty soon a cryptic message may start appearing on three common antihistimine drugs sold without a prescription.

Unless the Food and Drug Administration changes the wording, it will say: "This drug should not be taken in pregnancy without the advice of a physician."

The message is a compromise to satisfy some scientists who think the drugs may have a potential for causing birth defects.

It is also the product of two years of behind-the-scenes debate, disagreement and committee meetings in FDA.

The compromise, disclosed at a hearing of a house investigative subcommittee, clears the way for continued non-prescription marketing of the antihistimines, provided they carry the label.

The question occurring to subcommittee chairman L. H. Fountain, D-N.C.: "Will the average woman understand it?"

Ironically, the man called upon to answer doesn't personally believe there is enough adverse evidence to justify the label, anyway.

Dr. Joseph F. Sadusk Jr., FDA's medical director, told the subcommittee he is merely going along with a committee of outside experts set up to survey the drugs, the survey was ordered after some scientists found excessive doses of the compounds cause birth defects in rats, pigs and opossums.

Fountain asked what protection the label is for a woman in the early stages of pregnancy. Sadusk said a woman who thinks she is pregnant shouldn't take the drugs without consulting her doctor.

The three in question are meclizine, cyclizine and chlorcyclizine. The first two have been available on prescription and over-the-counter for a number of years to treat nausea, dizziness and motion sickness. The third is taken for allergies, colds, hayfever and insect bites.

The subcommittee says one firm now markets a form of meclizine as an over-the-counter motion-sickness medicine.

Another firm offers cyclizine for the same condition, and, since 1959, has been marketing chlorcyclizine over the counter for hayfever, asthma and allergies.

More than a year ago, several FDA medical specialists urged FDA to have the drugs shifted to prescription only and require the firms to add a warning: "Safe use in pregnancy has not been established."

When the firms balked at the idea, the Fountain subcommittee said one echelon of FDA moved toward using its regulatory authority. This was sidetracked, and FDA appointed a temporary committee of outside experts to weigh the case.

Meeting on April 20, 1964, they recommended putting meclizine and cyclizine on prescription only, and relabling the medicine to read, "safety in early pregnancy has not been established." They suggested informing physicians of the animal findings.

Then, nine months later, last Jan. 18, Dr. Sadusk forwarded the official report recommending that "meclizine and cyclizine-containing drugs should be sold on a prescription basis only with a warning . . . concerning its use in pregnancy."

Fountain wants to know why it took nine months for Dr. Sadusk to forward the panel's recommendations to the FDA commissioner. Sadusk conceded that he had withdrawn his own endorsement of the report within 48 to 72 hours of making it—another development Fountain said he will examine in more detail.

Sadusk testified that it takes doses anywhere from 25 to 100 times the ratio of normal human therapeutic amounts to cause birth defects in the fetuses of pregnant rats fed the compounds.

Dr. Cecil T. King of the National Institutes of Health has reported that his lab studies show that meclizine in varying doses caused cleft palate and bone and skull defects in rats, pigs and opossums, but not yet in monkeys. (Primates are considered by some experts to be a better test of an agent's potential effect on humans.)

FDA cited two studies of human patients it said showed no significant link between the drugs and birth defects. But subcommittee aides countered that one of the surveys, conducted by NIH, is incomplete, and scientists there say no conclusions can be made one way or the other.

Sadusk said there have been over one million doses taken in U.S. and nearly one billion worldwide. If they caused birth defects, there would be hundreds of thousands of reports in the medical literature and this isn't the case, he said.

Green River Ban Up For Adoption By Novato Council

Ordinance prohibiting house-to-house selling will be up for final passage by the Novato City Council at its meeting at 8 p.m. today in the community house.

Lawrence A. Coleman, director of public works, will present bids for the Grant Avenue bridge project. He will also report on the Diablo - DeLong Avenues traffic study.

The council will hold its first budget meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the community house.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Big Debate Brings Excitement To Video

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Last night's CBS — TV debate about Viet Nam, with presidential adviser McGeorge Bundy and five college professors, was a genuinely exciting public event and an enriching use of video as an instrument of involvement.

A particularly wise decision of the one - hour program, "Viet Nam Dialogue: Mr. Bundy and the Professors," was the use of an invited audience, which seemed to stimulate the participants as only live spectators can, and which also provided a keener sense of immediacy for the home viewer.

The program fulfilled Bundy's promise to debate the Viet Nam issue with educators after he was not able to take part in the televised "teach-in" last month because he was sent on a presidential assignment to the Dominican Republic.

The leader of the opposition to American policy in Viet Nam in last night's debate was Hans Morgenthau, professor of political science and modern history at the University of Chicago.

And the nature of the program, whether it was particularly fruitful in terms of content or not, was proof that all the technological advancements such as the Early Bird satellite are not always as fascinating as a broadcast that has something to say, even if it is locally originated. There has been a tendency lately for public affairs programs to overdo the attempt to liven up their presentations, at the expense of substance.

DAN BLOCKER, the huge and friendly fellow who plays "Hoss" in the top - rated NBC-TV western series, "Bonanza," is the subject of a brief interview sent out by the network in which he describes his feelings about guns.

"I have to carry a gun on television," he is quoted, "but I won't have a blasted thing to do with them in real life." He adds:

"My hatred of guns started one night when I was sitting on a mountain in Korea. Until then I guess I thought I was unbeatable. For 20 years or more I had figured that old Dan Blocker was made out of steel — and then I learned how helpless a man can feel when there's someone out there with a gun who is trying to blow him to eternity. I made a vow that night that I would never again aim a gun at a living thing."

Local Agency Board To Hear Novato Annex

A 2,140-acre annexation to the City of Novato will be considered by the Marin County local agency formation commission at its meeting at the Civic Center at 8:15 a.m. Thursday.

The annexation, from Atherton Avenue north along both sides of Highway 101, would extend the city east to the Petaluma River and the Sonoma County boundary.

It would include the Lodge and the new McGraw-Hill Book Co. plant which is now under construction. It would also take in the county airport.

Also on Thursday's agenda is the application of the city of Mill Valley to annex 1.95 acres on Lomita Drive which was not included in the earlier Alto bowl annexation. The commission directed that the city seek approval for the annexation of 23 acres surrounding Oak Crest Road and a portion of The Alameda.

John F. Barrows, executive officer of the commission, said he will recommend in favor of all three annexations.

Junior Chamber Polls San Rafael Residents

San Rafael residents who answered a recent community attitude survey indicated they dislike the general appearance of downtown San Rafael, its traffic and parking congestion.

Results of the survey, compiled by the San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce, were presented to the city council last night.

Sixteen hundred questionnaires were distributed and 612 completed or partially completed, with the number of responses varying according to the questions.

Fifty-five per cent of the respondents said they disliked the general appearance of downtown San Rafael.

Asked how they would improve the downtown appearance, the greatest number (45 per cent) favored remodelling as compared to a mall, landscaping or other alternatives.

Residents also indicated they desire planning of the downtown area including parking facilities and one-way streets.

Ninety-seven per cent said the traffic situation in downtown San Rafael is bad, and 69 per cent said they had problems parking downtown.

Eighty-nine per cent felt the services of the fire department are adequate, 57 per cent felt the quality of the police department was good. Seventy-eight per cent rated the city library services adequate, and 58 per cent were satisfied with the street maintenance work.

Answers to other questions indicated that residents felt that:

The San Rafael Police Department does not have enough policemen.

There should be no further filling of San Francisco Bay.

The city's water supply should be fluoridated. This drew a 69 per cent "yes" response.

The city should finance capital investments by bonds (68 per cent).

Industrial development should be in the form of light industry (38 per cent) or research and development (46 per cent).

The Jaycees reported that the "type of individual" represented in the survey is more than 35 years of age, employed, a homeowner who has lived in San Rafael more than four years and has children who are attending or will attend San Rafael City Schools.

The survey showed that 76 per cent of the respondents were homeowners as opposed to nine per cent renting single-family dwellings and 15 per cent renting duplexes or apartments.

Thirty-five per cent were employed in San Rafael, 13 per cent elsewhere in Marin, 40 per cent outside Marin, and the remainder were housewives or retired.

Twenty-six per cent felt city tax money could best be spent in planning, and 23 per cent in law enforcement.

Seventy-five per cent favored unification of the Dixie School District with San Rafael City Schools.

Palsy Dinner Set For Installation Of New Officers

John R. Maurer of Marinwood will be installed as president of the United Cerebral Palsy Assn. of Marin at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Redwood Sky Lounge Restaurant, San Rafael.

He was chairman of the association's fund-raising drive this year and served as vice-president.

Other new officers to be installed at the annual dinner meeting are Theodore Schweiter, San Anselmo, first vice-president; William A. Henderson Jr., Larkspur, second vice-president; Mrs. Kenneth Simmons, Terra Linda, secretary, and Winston L. Engvall, Lucas Valley, treasurer.

Fire-Fighting Tax Exclusion Poses Puzzle

The opportunity for cities and fire districts to be excused from part of the tax burden of the county fire department may cause some legal problems.

Cities and districts offering structural fire protection can petition the county prior to July 1 and be excused of the portion of the county fire department budget spent for structural fire protection. This is about one cent on the county tax rolls.

However, if not all cities and districts do so, the break in next fiscal year's tax picture could be quite different, according to County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell.

He noted that only Novato and Larkspur have asked to be excused from structural costs of the county department so far. If no other cities or districts file, it could mean that these two cities could realize a big advantage.

Mitchell also said the City of Novato might not legally be able to ask to be forgiven the tax. City dwellers are actually served by the Novato Fire District which includes and surrounds the city. The Novato Fire District has not yet petitioned for the tax break, Mitchell said.

Judge Splits Fortune In Divorce Case

Janet Jones of San Rafael will receive $404,000 as her share of the $1.7 million lighting fixtures fortune of her San Leandro husband, Preston Jones, according to findings revealed yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner, who determined the figure of over $800,000 in business community property after lengthy hearings of the divorce trial started last Dec. 1, also awarded Mrs. Jones half interest in the $75,000 home at 16 Marina Way, San Rafael.

Jones, 52, is to pay $30,000 more for her attorney costs; $15,750 for investigative fees resulting in her preparation of the divorce complaint alleging extreme cruelty, and $250 monthly support for their son, Daren.

Mrs. Jones won half of the couple's $34,000 Squaw Valley home, but must pay the remaining $25,000 of her own attorney costs.

Total lawyer fees for her totaled $65,000, with the $55,541.17 amount still due. Judge Gardiner determined Mrs. Jones should pay her share because she obtained the substantial property allowance.

He said interlocutory decree of divorce will not be granted pending additional legal matters.
